Capital of Canada Rocked By Mysterious Explosion

Several Ottawa Buildings Said To Be Wrecked

9-Story Structure Housing Government Offices Is Shattered

OTTAWA (AP) — A mysterious explosion today rocked downtown Ottawa, wrecking several buildings and shattering windows over a wide area.

At least two persons were killed. Every window in the nine-story Jackson building was shattered and part of the roof was torn off. It contains government offices. Several other buildings and five homes were destroyed.

Equipment from every fire station in the city was called out.

Only the fact that the blast occurred on a Saturday morning, when downtown Ottawa is comparatively quiet, prevented huge casualties.

The explosion came about 8:40 a.m. Its main force appeared to be centered in the Myers Motors Building and in the Jackson Building.

Witnesses said the area looked like a wartime scene.

Damage was tentatively estimated in excess of one million dollars.

An ambulance driver said several were trapped in a building owned by Myers Motors Ltd.

The driver said several persons who had been walking outside a department store were "sucked right into the store" through shattered windows. Some were injured.

The explosion was heard for miles.

Fire officials called every off duty fireman to the scene.

Police and firemen dug frantically in the debris of what was the show rooms of Myers Motors. At least two bodies had been taken out 15 minutes after the explosion.

The force of the blast smashed plate glass store fronts over a wide area, including Sparks Street, one of the city's main sight of the Parliament buildings.

"Your ships and aircraft should not come on odd dates. We will not necessarily conduct shelling on odd dates. But you should refrain from coming, to avoid possible losses."

Tigers Defeated 8-0 By Franklin Hts. Crew

By PAUL SMALLWOOD
Herald Staff Writer

Plagued by costly penalties and fumbles, the Circleville Tigers went down to an 8-0 defeat at the hands of Franklin Heights last night on the local gridiron.

Franklin Heights, committing its share of fumbles and miscues, managed to score the game's only touchdown in the third period. Circleville came up with several drives during the Parents Night contest only to see them vanish by way of disastrous penalties or bobbles.

Actually the Tigers' deepest penetration into enemy territory was to the 20-yard line, this coming in the second quarter. This attack was thwarted when Franklin Heights held on downs.

The remainder of the game was a nip-and-tuck affair, with first one team then the other gaining possession of the ball in futile attempts to score.

* * *

FRANKLIN Height's TD came on an odd sequence of plays. The visitors had marched from their own 35, but fumbled on the one-foot line, with Circleville recovering.

The Tigers fumbled on the next play and Franklin Heights recovered on the two-yard line. Fullback Bill Biggers went over on the next play.

Trailing 8-0, Circleville roared back with a spread formation attack, the first time this offense has been employed by the Tigers this season. The widely spread maneuver picked up sizable gains on both the ground and in the air, but not enough to produce a ramble to the end zone.

Penalties marred the game as did fumbles. Circleville drew 65 yards on five calls by the officials and Franklin Heights lost 60 on six violations.

The pigskin was a slippery piece of property for both squads, with CHS fumbling six times and FH five. Each team lost the ball three times.

Circleville started to move early in the first period, taking the ball on its own 20-yard line and marching to the 49 before a 15-yard penalty interferred. Left halfback Ray Phifer carried four straight times and Arch Ward, filling in for injured Walt Arledge, once to give CHS two first downs.

* * *

THE penalty halted things and Circleville was forced to punt, Franklin Heights taking over on its own 28-yard line. The visitors promptly initiated a march of their own which eventually terminated on Circleville's 43 via a lost fumble.

Enemy fullback John Yinger was the troublemaker, carrying the ball four times in a row. He fumbled on the next play when smothered by Asa Elsea, Marion Morrison and Harold Arledge, with CHS recovering.

With Ward and fullback Larry Hannahs lugging the mail, the Tigers quickly picked up a first down, but again the penalty nemesis struck. CHS could not pick up the necessary yardage and Franklin Heights took over.

* * *

MIDWAY in the second quarter Circleville opened what appeared to be a determined bid. Hannahs returned Biggers' punt to the CHS 35 and quarterback Jim Woods and Ward alternated to move the pigskin all the way to Franklin Height's 20. The drive was aided by a 10-yard pass from Woods to Tom Greeno.

The visitors dug in on their own 20 and that was as far as Circleville could get. A few minutes later, halfback Gary Vandemark intercepted a Franklin Heights pass. This break went to waste when the Tigers lost the ball on a fumble several plays later.

With about 3:50 remaining in the third quarter, Circleville found itself in the hole by way of a penalty. Elsea was forced to punt from his own 12 and Franklin Heights returned to the CHS 35.

Halfback Jim Hicks then scampered for 15 yards in two tries and Yinger and Doug Cox collaborated for 16 more to put the ball on Circleville's four-yard line.

The Tigers fashioned a break when Biggers fumbled on the one-foot line, CHS recovering. Disaster struck when Circleville fumbled on the next play and FH recovered.

This was all the visitors needed as Biggers made up for his earlier fumble by smashing over. Quarterback Mike Holman passed to end Doug Vance for the extra points and Franklin Heights commanded an 8-0 lead.

* * *

CIRCLEVILLE'S final effort came early in the fourth quarter when the Tigers opened up with their new wide open formation.

O'Neill-Union Tieup Details To Be Revealed

DiSalle Promised Data During Debate with Governor Tonight

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The voters of Ohio will be told tonight the details of reported radio and television time purchased by the Teamsters Conference in 1956 to boost the candidacy of Gov. C. William O'Neill.

O'Neill has declared that no Teamster funds ever have been used in his behalf.

The programs were for the benefit of former Republican Sen. George Bender who was running for re-election and other candidates, O'Neill told a press conference Friday. His name was never mentioned on any of the teamsters financed plugs.

O'Neill issued that statement in reply to charges by Michael V. DiSalle, Democratic candidate for governor, that O'Neill accepted financial support from the Ohio Teamsters Conference in the 1956 campaign.

DiSalle made the charges two weeks ago on the opening day of the GOP state convention. O'Neill said he waited before answering the charges to check with the radio and TV stations that carried the campaign appeals.

The governor said the charges by DiSalle were "smear tactics" and added:

"I think my opponent has been reckless with the truth just long enough."

Support of the scandal-tainted teamsters is apparently considered a political liability by both Democrats and Republicans.

But DiSalle at a meeting of Miami County Democrats reiterated his charges. He said he would confront O'Neill tonight with written evidence that the teamsters paid for radio spot announcements advertising both O'Neill and Bender in the 1956 campaign.

DiSalle said that while O'Neill did not appear on teamsters sponsored TV programs, he and Bender did benefit from spot radio announcements paid for by the teamsters union.

DiSalle contended that one of his charges still was unanswered by the governor—whether in return for teamster support O'Neill opposed labor contract control legislation during the 1957 Legislature.

"If he didn't (oppose it), why was the legislation killed in committee without a hearing?" DiSalle asked.

DiSalle promised to reveal his evidence of teamsters support for O'Neill at the Cleveland City Club debate tonight.

British Jet Explodes in Detroit Area

DETROIT (AP)—A British jet bomber on a combined good will and training mission exploded and crashed in flames in a riverfront residential area here Friday.

Six crewmen were believed to have died in the inferno.

Three homes were demolished. Another dozen were set afire and at least a score more were damaged in the downpour of flaming wreckage and blazing oil.

Almost unbelievably, only two residents suffered serious enough injuries to require hospital treatment.

Trailing smoke and flame, the triangular delta-wing Vulcan roared tree-top high, clipping leaves and branches in an apparent desperate attempt to make the river.

But before it reached the water it blew apart with a tremendous explosion.

The British Air Ministry in London said the ship was from the 83rd Squadron of the Royal Air Force Bomber Command based at Waddington Air Base near Lincoln, England.

Its captain, Flt. Lt. John Willoughby Moore, carried a message of good will fron. the mayor of that city to the mayor of Lincoln, Neb., near headquarters of the U.S. Strategic Air Command.

U.S. Cardinal Mooney Dies On Eve of Election of Pope

ROME (AP)—Edward Cardinal Mooney, archbishop of Detroit, died today at 76 as the conclave to select a new pope was about to begin.

Cardinal's Mooney's death cut to 51 the number of cardinals who will elect the new Pope.

First information was that his sudden death was not expected to affect the beginning of the conclave to elect the Pope.

The Rev. Joseph Tucek, head of the National Catholic Welfare Councilmen's Service in Rome, said death was due to a heart condition from which the Detroit prelate had been suffering for a long time.

Meanwhile, the remaining cardinals assembled in St. Peter's Basilica to pray for Divine guidance in choosing a successor to Pope Pius XII who died Oct. 9.

There, Eugene Cardinal Tisserant, French-born dean of the College of Cardinals, celebrated the "Mass of the Holy Spirit."

As the cardinals—nearly all of them created by Pius XII in two post-war consistories—prayed for guidance, there was word that the process for beatification of the dead pontiff would be started in the near future.

In an exhortation pronounced by Msgr. Antonio Bacci, the Vatican's expert, they were urged to elect a pope "who is a teacher, pastor of souls and father to all people."

Fifty-two cardinals are here for the conclave but four infirm members were absent from today's mass.

These were Thomas Cardinal Tien, exiled archbishop of Peiping, Joseph Ernest Cardinal Van Roey, 84, of Belgium, Georges Cardinal Grente, 86, of Le Mans, France, and Carlos Carmelo Cardinal de Vasconcellos Motta, 68, of Brazil.

Two other absent members of the 54-member college were Joseph Cardinal Mindszenty, in refuge in the U. S. Embassy in Hungary, and Alojzije Cardinal Stepinac, sick and confined to his native village in Yugoslavia by the Communist authorities.

With bowed heads, the princes of the church listened to Msgr Bacci's exhortation that underlined the importance of their task of choosing the 262nd pontiff.

Under centuries-old conclave procedure, as amended by the late Pius XII, he had the duty of exhorting the prince of the church to choose a capable pastor, and to do so in shortest possible time and with the greatest zeal.

"The new vicar of Christ," Msgr. Bacci said in his oration prepared for delivery to the cardinals "should be a bridge between heaven and the earth, summoning wrongdoers and the errant onto the straight road and urging the good to even greater perfection.

"He should be a bridge between the social classes, a bridge between nations, even between those who reject, cast away and persecute Christian religion."

The Church, Msgr. Bacci said, needs a pope with spiritual fortitude, charity and indomitable courage.

"He will have to be a teacher to all, ready to uncover and condemn errors from wherever they come.

"He will have to be a pastor of souls. He will have to bring together in one embrace the Western and Eastern churches.

"He will also have to be a father. When one is called to the supreme pontificate he no longer belongs to himself nor to a single people but to all peoples.

Glimmer of Sunshine Seen In Ohio Coal Output Gloom

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—There is a glimmer of sunshine in the gloom of this year's Ohio coal production.

That is the view of the Department of Industrial Relations reviewing production in the second quarter of this year, April-May-June.

In those months, the 6,660,000 tons of coal mined had an at-the-mine valuation of $29,633,000. But just to compare that second quarter production with production of the same period last year presents a dismal conclusion, the department reported. For production dropped 19 per cent from 1957's second-quarter output.

The proportional drop was greater for underground tonnage (30 per cent) than for strip tonnage (12 per cent).

Against these figures there are encouraging signs that the state's coal industry is outriding the depressing forces which affected most of the major industries during the past year, the state survey showed.

Director Hugh D. Wait reported production figures from January through June of this year are encouraging. He said that even with more than twice as many mines closed in the second quarter as compared with the 1957 period, the second quarter tonnage this year was above that of the first quarter.

Also, Wait said, an evaluation of the monthly production figures for the first six months of 1958 indicates that the state's coal industry is basically sound.

Harrison County, with 17 mines operating, produced 1,890,922 tons in the second quarter to lead Ohio's coal-producing counties for the period. Figures for some other counties, the number of producing mines reporting and the tonnage for the second quarter: Belmont, 40 mines, 1,698,749; Columbiana, 41 mines, 363,020; Athens, 20 mines 151,464; Gallia, 9 mines, 122,543; Guernsey, 9 mines, 60,145; Hocking, 9 mines 12,407; Jefferson, 31 mines, 757,049; Lawrence, 4 mines, 22,993; Mahoning, 11 mines, 134,842; Meigs, 6 mines, 27,791; Muskingum, 14 mines, 140,923; Stark, 11 mines, 109,215; Tuscarawas, 45 mines, 507,533; Washington, Portage and Wayne counties, combined, 5 mines, 62,571.

U.S. Cardinal Mooney Dies On Eve of Election of Pope

ROME (AP)—Edward Cardinal Mooney, archbishop of Detroit, died today at 76 as the conclave to select a new pope was about to begin.

Cardinal's Mooney's death cut to 51 the number of cardinals who will elect the new Pope.

First information was that his sudden death was not expected to affect the beginning of the conclave to elect the Pope.

The Rev. Joseph Tucek, head of the National Catholic Welfare Councilmen's Service in Rome, said death was due to a heart condition from which the Detroit prelate had been suffering for a long time.

Meanwhile, the remaining cardinals assembled in St. Peter's Basilica to pray for Divine guidance in choosing a successor to Pope Pius XII who died Oct. 9.

There, Eugene Cardinal Tisserant, French-born dean of the College of Cardinals, celebrated the "Mass of the Holy Spirit."

As the cardinals—nearly all of them created by Pius XII in two post-war consistories—prayed for guidance, there was word that the process for beatification of the dead pontiff would be started in the near future.

In an exhortation pronounced by Msgr. Antonio Bacci, the Vatican's expert, they were urged to elect a pope "who is a teacher, pastor of souls and father to all people."

Fifty-two cardinals are here for the conclave but four infirm members were absent from today's mass.

These were Thomas Cardinal Tien, exiled archbishop of Peiping, Joseph Ernest Cardinal Van Roey, 84, of Belgium, Georges Cardinal Grente, 86, of Le Mans, France, and Carlos Carmelo Cardinal de Vasconcellos Motta, 68, of Brazil.

Two other absent members of the 54-member college were Joseph Cardinal Mindszenty, in refuge in the U. S. Embassy in Hungary, and Alojzije Cardinal Stepinac, sick and confined to his native village in Yugoslavia by the Communist authorities.

With bowed heads, the princes of the church listened to Msgr Bacci's exhortation that underlined the importance of their task of choosing the 262nd pontiff.

Under centuries-old conclave procedure, as amended by the late Pius XII, he had the duty of exhorting the prince of the church to choose a capable pastor, and to do so in shortest possible time and with the greatest zeal.

"The new vicar of Christ," Msgr. Bacci said in his oration prepared for delivery to the cardinals "should be a bridge between heaven and the earth, summoning wrongdoers and the errant onto the straight road and urging the good to even greater perfection.

"He should be a bridge between the social classes, a bridge between nations, even between those who reject, cast away and persecute Christian religion."

The Church, Msgr. Bacci said, needs a pope with spiritual fortitude, charity and indomitable courage.

"He will have to be a teacher to all, ready to uncover and condemn errors from wherever they come.

"He will have to be a pastor of souls. He will have to bring together in one embrace the Western and Eastern churches.

"He will also have to be a father. When one is called to the supreme pontificate he no longer belongs to himself nor to a single people but to all peoples.

Glimmer of Sunshine Seen In Ohio Coal Output Gloom

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—There is a glimmer of sunshine in the gloom of this year's Ohio coal production.

That is the view of the Department of Industrial Relations reviewing production in the second quarter of this year, April-May-June.

In those months, the 6,660,000 tons of coal mined had an at-the-mine valuation of $29,633,000. But just to compare that second quarter production with production of the same period last year presents a dismal conclusion, the department reported. For production dropped 19 per cent from 1957's second-quarter output.

The proportional drop was greater for underground tonnage (30 per cent) than for strip tonnage (12 per cent).

Against these figures there are encouraging signs that the state's coal industry is outriding the depressing forces which affected most of the major industries during the past year, the state survey showed.

Director Hugh D. Wait reported production figures from January through June of this year are encouraging. He said that even with more than twice as many mines closed in the second quarter as compared with the 1957 period, the second quarter tonnage this year was above that of the first quarter.

Also, Wait said, an evaluation of the monthly production figures for the first six months of 1958 indicates that the state's coal industry is basically sound.

Harrison County, with 17 mines operating, produced 1,890,922 tons in the second quarter to lead Ohio's coal-producing counties for the period. Figures for some other counties, the number of producing mines reporting and the tonnage for the second quarter: Belmont, 40 mines, 1,698,749; Columbiana, 41 mines, 363,020; Athens, 20 mines 151,464; Gallia, 9 mines, 122,543; Guernsey, 9 mines, 60,145; Hocking, 9 mines 12,407; Jefferson, 31 mines, 757,049; Lawrence, 4 mines, 22,993; Mahoning, 11 mines, 134,842; Meigs, 6 mines, 27,791; Muskingum, 14 mines, 140,923; Stark, 11 mines, 109,215; Tuscarawas, 45 mines, 507,533; Washington, Portage and Wayne counties, combined, 5 mines, 62,571.

His analysis of the fallout showed 49 per cent neptunium 239 and a small per cent of various other elements, but no uranium 237, usually contained in such fallout.

He would not speculate on what type of new bomb might be involved in the tests.

Several Ottawa Buildings Said To Be Wrecked

9-Story Structure Housing Government Offices Is Shattered

OTTAWA (AP) — A mysterious explosion today rocked downtown Ottawa, wrecking several buildings and shattering windows over a wide area.

At least two persons were killed.

Every window in the nine-story Jackson building was shattered and part of the roof was torn off. It contains government offices. Several other buildings and five homes were destroyed.

Equipment from every fire station in the city was called out.

Only the fact that the blast occurred on a Saturday morning, when downtown Ottawa is comparatively quiet, prevented huge casualties.

The explosion came about 8:40 a.m. Its main force appeared to be centered in the Myers Motors Building and in the Jackson Building.

Witnesses said the area looked like a wartime scene.

Damage was tentatively estimated in excess of one million dollars.

An ambulance driver said several were trapped in a building owned by Myers Motors Ltd.

The driver said several persons who had been walking outside a department store were "sucked right into the store" through shattered windows. Some were injured.

The explosion was heard for miles.

Fire officials called every off duty fireman to the scene.

Police and firemen dug frantically in the debris of what was the show rooms of Myers Motors. At least two bodies had been taken out 15 minutes after the explosion.

The force of the blast smashed plate glass store fronts over a wide area, including Sparks Street, one of the city's main sight of the Parliament buildings.

"Your ships and aircraft should not come on odd dates. We will not necessarily conduct shelling on odd dates. But you should refrain from coming, to avoid possible losses."

Ottawa Driver, 71, Leaves Long Line Of Auto Wreckage

OTTAWA, Ohio (AP)—No one was hurt seriously, but 71-year-old William Cutlip made a real pile of auto wreckage on Main street Thursday night, Sheriff Arnold Potts reported.

Potts said Cutlip's car rammed the rear of another auto which had stopped for a red light and pushed it into another stopped car; backed up and hit a car behind it; glanced off and hit a parked car; shot over a curb and clouted a tree; went forward again to hit a street light pole, knocked down a service station sign and finally hit another utility pole.

Cutlip was treated at Lima St. Rita's Hospital for head cuts.

Total damage?

"We haven't been able to figure it out yet," said the sheriff.

New Surgery Seen Aid to Stroke Victim

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — An operation described by its originators as offering a way of successfully treating some kinds of stroke was reported today.

Stroke is a paralysis of some body function such as sight, speech or movement. It is due to the stoppage of the blood supply to a certain part of the brain, usually because of a clot. When it hits the part of the brain governing breathing, the result is often fatal.

Medical science up to now has been able to achieve little toward undoing the damage by stroke and the outlook for curative treatment has been a dismal one, the sponsors of the new operation said.

But a large percentage of the clots occur in arteries in the neck leading to the brain, not to little arteries in the brain itself. These trouble spots in the neck can be reached handily by surgery, they said.

Results of 67 of these neck operations on 50 patients were reported to the American Heart Assn. by a surgical team from Baylor University, Houston, Tex. The team was made up of Dr. E. Stanley Crawford, who reported the results, Dr. Michael E. Deakey, Dr. Denton A. Cooley and Dr. George C. Morris Jr.

Orient Contests Commissioners Petition Refusal

Attorney Richard Penn, 114½ N. Court St., representing the village of Orient, Thursday contested the Pickaway County Commissioners' refusal to accept Orient's bid for creation of a new township.

Several weeks ago the Commissioners refused to accept the Orient petition to make its village the county's 15th township. Orient made its bid for a change in township limits because the Scioto Twp. trustees were receiving approximately $800 of Orient's taxes and were not properly caring for its village roads.

According to Penn there is an Ohio Attorney General's opinion that states that where a legislative authority of a municipal corporation properly petitions the board of commissioners for a change in township lines it must comply.

Penn further states that a section of the Revised Code of Ohio abolishes township trustees in such a new township as would be created if the Commissioners honor the Orient petition.

Tigers

Starting on their own 24-yard line, the local gridders ran and passed to the enemy 35 before the drive bogged down.

Quarterback Woods, playing his first official game as a signal caller, ran twice for 14 yards and picked up the rest of the yardage on passes to Greeno, Greenlee and Hannahs. Determined to protect their lead, the FH gridders braced on their 35 and held the Tigers for downs.

The stubborn visitors virtually put on the clincher when Biggers punted out of bounds on Circleville's two-yard line. With about 50 seconds remaining, the Tigers again regained possession, but Hicks ended any possible threat by intercepting Wood's pass.

Itwas a disappointing loss for the Tigers who were striving to win the Parents Night contest. The defeat gives the locals a 2-2 South Central Ohio League record and a 3-3 mark for the season.

Coach Tom Bennett and his staff had figured heavily on the possible success of their spread attack. The system worked well in the fourth quarter drive, but ran out of steam when the enemy goal line came into sight.

The coaches noted that the greatest disappointment came on the numerous and costly penalties and fumbles.

CIRCLEVILLE played without the services of right half and co-captain Walt Arledge and end Leo Moats, both sidelined with injuries. Ward filled in capably for Arledge and Greenlee performed well at end, especially on defense.

The Tigers make their final home appearance Friday when Portsmouth East comes here. The following Friday they travel to Washington C. H. for the last game of the season.

Here are the lineups:

Washington C. H. Crew Takes First Place in SCO League

The Blue Lions of Washington C. H. vaulted into first place in the South Central Ohio League with a 14-6 decision over Greenfield McClain last night. The game was played at Washington C. H.

Circleville suffered an 8-0 defeat at the hands of Franklin heights last night and Hillsboro trounced Wilmington, 26-24, Thursday night.

Washington's victory gives the Blue Lions a commanding 3-0 league record with two loop games to go. The leaders meet Franklin Heights Friday, then entertain Circleville the following Friday.

The loss dropped Greenfield's stock to 3-1 in the league, good for second place.

* * *

FRANKLIN Heights gained third place with two wins and one loss, while Circleville dropped to fourth with two victories and two defeats. Hillsboro is fifth with one win and two losses, with Wilmington taking the celler on five straight losses.

Greenfield took an early lead over WCH last night when halfback Stroup went over from two yards out in the first quarter. The Blue Lions roared back in the second canto when ace halfback Ron Schackleford dashed 20 yards to paydirt.

The clincher came in the fourth period when Tom Seaman snared a pass from quarterback Buddy Lynch.

Greenfield led in most statistics, but came out on the short end of the score. McClain had 12 first downs to Washington's 11 and outgained the winners 268 yards to 212.

Ashville Drops Final Test To Jonathan Alder, 14-8

After battling on even terms for almost three periods, Ashville's grid broncos eventually went down to a 14-8 defeat at the hands of host team Jonathan Alder last night.

Jonathan Alder scored first late in the third quarter when Reder passed to Wilcox for 41 yards and a touchdown. Underhill ran for the two extra points and JA had an 8-0 lead.

The winners came back for another TD with about four minutes remaining in the fourth quarter as Reder sneaked over from two yards out.

Ashville's single tally came shortly afterwards when fullback Bob Hoover tossed a strike to end Dale Fout, the play covering 45 yards. Hoover ran for the extra points.

* * *

UNTIL the final minutes of the third quarter, the tilt was a defensive test for both teams. The fourth period picture changed with both squads opening up.

Hoover was leading ground gainer for the Broncos, picking up 46 yards in nine carries. Phil Roese garnered 34 in six attempts and quarterback Bill Hollenback aided with some exceptional punting.

Jonathan Alder collected nine first downs, with Ashville getting eight. The Broncos completed three of seven passes and JA connected on two of six.

It marked the final game of the season for the Broncos, giving them a 2-5 record. West Jefferson leads the Darby Valley League, but a win by Jonathan Alder next week over Greenview would throw the loop into a two-way deadlock between the two teams for the championship.

2 Housewives Duel with Ax, Knife in Yard

ONTARIO, Ore. (AP) — Two middle aged housewives fought viciously with knife and ax in a front yard here Friday and one of them died from a stab in the chest.

Mrs. Dorothy Hylland, 42, mother of two children, died moments after being knifed just above the heart, said Police Chief Walter Walker.

Walker said Mrs. Bertha Baldwin, 43, Mrs. Hylland's next door neighbor, signed a statement admitting the stabbing. She was held in this small eastern Oregon town today without formal charge.

The chief said Mrs. Baldwin told him she acted in self defense after being hit on an arm by the ax. "So far as we can determine, she's not hurt," Walker said.

Walker gave this account of the fatal fight:

"Mrs. Baldwin had been drinking and she went next door to get her children, who were watching television at the Hylland house.

"Mrs. Baldwin used abusive language, and Mrs. Hylland told her 'You've got your kids, now go home.'

"Mrs. Baldwin said 'I'm coming back to you' and ran out of the house. She evidently ran home and got the knife and the other woman saw her coming back.

"She grabbed an ax in the back of her house and went out to meet her. When they got close enough, the Baldwin woman stabbed her," Chief Walker said.

Congress passed the bill repealing laws to exclude Chinese from the United States in 1944.

Circleville, FH Bands Give Entertaining Halftime Shows

Both the Circleville and Franklin Heights High School Marching Bands presented entertaining performances at the football game here last night.

The band shows made it a complete evening of football. Probably enjoying the affair most of all were the parents of the Circleville Tigers.

The mothers and dads were introduced, along with their sons, prior to the kickoff.

Circleville's band theme was a popular rendition of "Let's Dance". Franklin Heights paid honor to the armed forces with a "Service Salute."

* * *

DIRECTOR Truman Eberly's CHS musicians opened the show with the "Helena Polka", featuring a dance by Drum Majoress Sally Montgomery and her corps of majorettes.

Acting as cosmopolitans of dance, the CHS bandsmen then whipped out a minuet, followed by the waltz "Wine, Women and Song".

Heading south of the border, the musicians came up with a popular tango followed by a Mexican shuffle to the tune of "La Raspa".

Miss Montgomery and her majorettes again took the spotlight to present a lively Can-Can. Returning to a typical American dance, the entire band joined for an exhibition of the "Bunny Hop".

Next came a traditional American song in jazz style, "The Saints Go Marchin' In". The last dance of the evening was a conga.

After presenting Circleville's alma mater, "The Red and Black", the band then graphically showed progress of the Band Mothers Assn. Mile of Pennies drive. The bandsmen formed a graph which indicated that the campaign had reached about 75 per cent of its goal.

* * *

THE Franklin Heights bandsmen paid tribute to all branches of the service. They formed a cannon for the Army, a ship for the Navy and a plane for the Air Force. A huge U. S. formation honored the Marines.

The visitors then formed a cross in tribute to those who have died for their country. This was accompanied by the song "Old Soldiers Never Die".

That average was given by State Auditor James A. Rhodes. He reported that Ohio spent more than 821 million dollars last year on education in public schools and tax-supported universities.

Ottawa Driver, 71, Leaves Long Line Of Auto Wreckage

OTTAWA, Ohio (AP)—No one was hurt seriously, but 71-year-old William Cutlip made a real pile of auto wreckage on Main street Thursday night, Sheriff Arnold Potts reported.

Potts said Cutlip's car rammed the rear of another auto which had stopped for a red light and pushed it into another stopped car; backed up and hit a car behind it; glanced off and hit a parked car; shot over a curb and clouted a tree; went forward again to hit a street light pole, knocked down a service station sign and finally hit another utility pole.

Cutlip was treated at Lima St. Rita's Hospital for head cuts.

Total damage?

"We haven't been able to figure it out yet," said the sheriff.

Tigers

Starting on their own 24-yard line, the local gridders ran and passed to the enemy 35 before the drive bogged down.

Quarterback Woods, playing his first official game as a signal caller, ran twice for 14 yards and picked up the rest of the yardage on passes to Greeno, Greenlee and Hannahs. Determined to protect their lead, the FH gridders braced on their 35 and held the Tigers for downs.

The stubborn visitors virtually put on the clincher when Biggers punted out of bounds on Circleville's two-yard line. With about 50 seconds remaining, the Tigers again regained possession, but Hicks ended any possible threat by intercepting Wood's pass.

Itwas a disappointing loss for the Tigers who were striving to win the Parents Night contest. The defeat gives the locals a 2-2 South Central Ohio League record and a 3-3 mark for the season.

Coach Tom Bennett and his staff had figured heavily on the possible success of their spread attack. The system worked well in the fourth quarter drive, but ran out of steam when the enemy goal line came into sight.

The coaches noted that the greatest disappointment came on the numerous and costly penalties and fumbles.

* * *

CIRCLEVILLE played without the services of right half and co-captain Walt Arledge and end Leo Moats, both sidelined with injuries. Ward filled in capably for Arledge and Greenlee performed well at end, especially on defense.

The Tigers make their final home appearance Friday when Portsmouth East comes here. The following Friday they travel to Washington C. H. for the last game of the season.

Here are the lineups:

New Surgery Seen Aid to Stroke Victim

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — An operation described by its originators as offering a way of successfully treating some kinds of stroke was reported today.

Stroke is a paralysis of some body function such as sight, speech or movement. It is due to the stoppage of the blood supply to a certain part of the brain, usually because of a clot. When it hits the part of the brain governing breathing, the result is often fatal.

Medical science up to now has been able to achieve little toward undoing the damage by stroke and the outlook for curative treatment has been a dismal one, the sponsors of the new operation said.

But a large percentage of the clots occur in arteries in the neck leading to the brain, not to little arteries in the brain itself. These trouble spots in the neck can be reached handily by surgery, they said.

Results of 67 of these neck operations on 50 patients were reported to the American Heart Assn. by a surgical team from Baylor University, Houston, Tex. The team was made up of Dr. E. Stanley Crawford, who reported the results, Dr. Michael E. Deakey, Dr. Denton A. Cooley and Dr. George C. Morris Jr.

Orient Contests Commissioners Petition Refusal

Attorney Richard Penn, 114½ N. Court St., representing the village of Orient, Thursday contested the Pickaway County Commissioners' refusal to accept Orient's bid for creation of a new township.

Several weeks ago the Commissioners refused to accept the Orient petition to make its village the county's 15th township. Orient made its bid for a change in township limits because the Scioto Twp. trustees were receiving approximately $800 of Orient's taxes and were not properly caring for its village roads.

According to Penn there is an Ohio Attorney General's opinion that states that where a legislative authority of a municipal corporation properly petitions the board of commissioners for a change in township lines it must comply.

Penn further states that a section of the Revised Code of Ohio abolishes township trustees in such a new township as would be created if the Commissioners honor the Orient petition.

Washington C. H. Crew Takes First Place in SCO League

The Blue Lions of Washington C. H. vaulted into first place in the South Central Ohio League with a 14-6 decision over Greenfield McClain last night. The game was played at Washington C. H.

Circleville suffered an 8-0 defeat at the hands of Franklin heights last night and Hillsboro trounced Wilmington, 26-24, Thursday night.

Washington's victory gives the Blue Lions a commanding 3-0 league record with two loop games to go. The leaders meet Franklin Heights Friday, then entertain Circleville the following Friday.

The loss dropped Greenfield's stock to 3-1 in the league, good for second place.

* * *

FRANKLIN Heights gained third place with two wins and one loss, while Circleville dropped to fourth with two victories and two defeats. Hillsboro is fifth with one win and two losses, with Wilmington taking the celler on five straight losses.

Greenfield took an early lead over WCH last night when halfback Stroup went over from two yards out in the first quarter. The Blue Lions roared back in the second canto when ace halfback Ron Schackleford dashed 20 yards to paydirt.

The clincher came in the fourth period when Tom Seaman snared a pass from quarterback Buddy Lynch.

Greenfield led in most statistics, but came out on the short end of the score. McClain had 12 first downs to Washington's 11 and outgained the winners 268 yards to 212.

Ashville Drops Final Test To Jonathan Alder, 14-8

After battling on even terms for almost three periods, Ashville's grid broncos eventually went down to a 14-8 defeat at the hands of host team Jonathan Alder last night.

Jonathan Alder scored first late in the third quarter when Reder passed to Wilcox for 41 yards and a touchdown. Underhill ran for the two extra points and JA had an 8-0 lead.

The winners came back for another TD with about four minutes remaining in the fourth quarter as Reder sneaked over from two yards out.

Ashville's single tally came shortly afterwards when fullback Bob Hoover tossed a strike to end Dale Fout, the play covering 45 yards. Hoover ran for the extra points.

* * *

UNTIL the final minutes of the third quarter, the tilt was a defensive test for both teams. The fourth period picture changed with both squads opening up.

Hoover was leading ground gainer for the Broncos, picking up 46 yards in nine carries. Phil Roese garnered 34 in six attempts and quarterback Bill Hollenback aided with some exceptional punting.

Jonathan Alder collected nine first downs, with Ashville getting eight. The Broncos completed three of seven passes and JA connected on two of six.

It marked the final game of the season for the Broncos, giving them a 2-5 record. West Jefferson leads the Darby Valley League, but a win by Jonathan Alder next week over Greenview would throw the loop into a two-way deadlock between the two teams for the championship.

Singing Sheriffs Head Up GOP Meet

2 Housewives Duel with Ax, Knife in Yard

ONTARIO, Ore. (AP) — Two middle aged housewives fought viciously with knife and ax in a front yard here Friday and one of them died from a stab in the chest.

Mrs. Dorothy Hylland, 42, mother of two children, died moments after being knifed just above the heart, said Police Chief Walter Walker.

Walker said Mrs. Bertha Baldwin, 43, Mrs. Hylland's next door neighbor, signed a statement admitting the stabbing. She was held in this small eastern Oregon town today without formal charge.

The chief said Mrs. Baldwin told him she acted in self defense after being hit on an arm by the ax. "So far as we can determine, she's not hurt," Walker said.

Walker gave this account of the fatal fight:

"Mrs. Baldwin had been drinking and she went next door to get her children, who were watching television at the Hylland house.

"Mrs. Baldwin used abusive language, and Mrs. Hylland told her 'You've got your kids, now go home.'

"Mrs. Baldwin said 'I'm coming back to you' and ran out of the house. She evidently ran home and got the knife and the other woman saw her coming back.

"She grabbed an ax in the back of her house and went out to meet her. When they got close enough, the Baldwin woman stabbed her," Chief Walker said.

Congress passed the bill repealing laws to exclude Chinese from the United States in 1944.

Circleville, FH Bands Give Entertaining Halftime Shows

Both the Circleville and Franklin Heights High School Marching Bands presented entertaining performances at the football game here last night.

The band shows made it a complete evening of football. Probably enjoying the affair most of all were the parents of the Circleville Tigers.

The mothers and dads were introduced, along with their sons, prior to the kickoff.

Circleville's band theme was a popular rendition of "Let's Dance". Franklin Heights paid honor to the armed forces with a "Service Salute."

* * *

DIRECTOR Truman Eberly's CHS musicians opened the show with the "Helena Polka", featuring a dance by Drum Majoress Sally Montgomery and her corps of majorettes.

Acting as cosmopolitans of dance, the CHS bandsmen then whipped out a minuet, followed by the waltz "Wine, Women and Song".

Heading south of the border, the musicians came up with a popular tango followed by a Mexican shuffle to the tune of "La Raspa".

Miss Montgomery and her majorettes again took the spotlight to present a lively Can-Can. Returning to a typical American dance, the entire band joined for an exhibition of the "Bunny Hop".

Next came a traditional American song in jazz style, "The Saints Go Marchin' In". The last dance of the evening was a conga.

After presenting Circleville's alma mater, "The Red and Black", the band then graphically showed progress of the Band Mothers Assn. Mile of Pennies drive. The bandsmen formed a graph which indicated that the campaign had reached about 75 per cent of its goal.

* * *

THE Franklin Heights bandsmen paid tribute to all branches of the service. They formed a cannon for the Army, a ship for the Navy and a plane for the Air Force. A huge U. S. formation honored the Marines.

The visitors then formed a cross in tribute to those who have died for their country. This was accompanied by the song "Old Soldiers Never Die".

Mr. and Mrs. MacMurray will bring with them some eighteen instruments and each evening will sing duets and solos using their imperial nocturne Vibraharp and goya guitar as accompaniment.

A music drama will be presented during the revival which will be announced in the Herald.

The Rev. Gibbs has secured Dr. A. B. Cox, former conference superintendent of Southeast Ohio Conference, also formerly of Circleville and a brother Mason, as the evangelist.

Services will be held each evening at 7:30 o'clock and the public is cordially invited.

The companions of Circleville Chapter No. 20, Royal Arch Masons will attend the morning church services Sunday.

The Adult class will meet at 9:15 a. m. in the Church for their study group. This week the discussion leader will be Judge William Radcliffe.

Presbyterian

Reformation Sunday will be observed throughout the United Presbyterian Churches of America, the last Sunday of October. For this occasion the Rev. Donald Mitchell has invited John H. Alspach to share the pulpit and deliver the sermon during the 10:30 a. m. hour of worship Sunday.

Mr. Alspach is a Presbyterian Elder in the Boulevard Presbyterian Church, Columbus; has served widely in an advisory capacity in work of the Presbytery of Columbus; is chairman of the gifts committee of Presbytery's half-million dollar Advancement Fund, which is founded and supported by all local Presbyterian Churches for the building of new Presbyterian Churches throughout this area.

"The Call of A Layman" is the theme of Mr. Alspach's message. About the address, he says: For more than a year and a half my reflections have become more and more urgent until I feel I can keep silence no longer. We need a deep seated concern about the things in life that are of greatest value and of first importance.

The Rev. Mitchell will read the scripture upon which this message is based, from the first Letter of Peter, Chapter 2:9-25.

Kittens, Mittens, and Life

The Three Little Kittens

"Three little kittens lost their mittens . . ." Bobby is thoroughly absorbed in the antics of the kittens. He will be pleased to discover that at the end of the story they find their mittens again. Like all children, he wants his stories to have happy endings.

But soon Bobby is going to find out that life's stories don't all have happy endings. Bobby is growing up, out of the land of fairies and elves, into the world of reality. Bobby must learn to meet sorrow with understanding, pain with courage, prosperity with thankfulness, defeat with hope, success with humility—he must learn to face life.

The Church School is waiting with open doors for Bobby, your Bobby. The Church School is prepared to show your children the best ways to make life a success. The Church School is ready to teach your children—in the language of children—the eternal truths of life.

A Need for Foreign Language

The U. S. Office of Education contends a modern foreign language should be part of every American child's education. This bureau recommends that public school study of a foreign language start early in the child's curriculum—not later than the third grade—and continue for ten years.

If the child shows aptitude and wants to branch out into other languages when reaching high school, that is all the better.

As it is now, most high school students study a foreign language superficially for several years and seldom master it. A student, it is contended, should be able to speak a language before reading or writing it.

A weakness of learning quickly to speak a foreign language in the United States is, of course, that there are few people to try it out on. The melting pot has removed by far the greater part of the native tongues of the early immigrants.

But the government educators contend that the U. S. is the most backward major nation in the world in the vital field of language competence. Because Americans are to be thrown increasingly into the comapny of foreignors as businessmen, workers and tourists, the language lack may be regarded as a major weakness of the public school system.

Some favorable seeds are sprouting. It is estimated that 271,000 pupils in 1,977 public schools of 357 communities, and almost an equal number of private schools, now can speak Spanish, French, German, Latin or Italian with some degree of understanding. Russian is taught in only a dozen schools and Arabic in even fewer.

One way or another, Americans will be forced into learning how to converse with other tribes of the earth as they are thrown into increasing contact with them.

DeGaulle Plan Unfolds

Ever since the May 13 uprising that brought Premier Charles de Gaulle to power, military officers in Algeria have bossed political affairs there. They belonged to the military-settler committees of public safety and worked hard in the referendum campaign for the new French constitution.

Now their hero has told them to quit politicking and act like soldiers. He has ordered them out of political affairs, has told them not to herd Algerians to the polls in November 23 voting as they did in the referendum and has barred any military man or civil servant from running for the assembly.

It is expected that the generals and colonels will follow orders. But they may not like it—and, more important, the French settlers in Algeria will not like it.

Nor will the French colonials like De Gaulle's decision to allow voting in Algeria on a party list basis, instead of for individuals as will be done in France proper. This assures that 44 of the 66 Algerian seats in the French National Assembly will be held by Moslems. The party lists will be made up on a two-thirds Moslem and one-third European basis.

De Gaulle probably can pull off both these maneuvers. He has the power to make his orders stick, power that no premier before him has had for many years. That power derives from the vote of confidence given him and his new constitution last month.

Racial Glare of the Hate Sheet

By George Sokolsky

Racial problems in the United States are sufficiently complicated without adding to them the ugliness of hate propaganda. What arises out of 300 years of American history and tradition need not be stirred to tragedy by exaggeration and falsehood.

It was reported that in cities where synagogue bombings occurred, a hate sheet, "Common Sense," edited by Conde McGinley, was distributed. Hate sheets, generally, seek to tie together prejudice against negroes with prejudice against Jews, so that it is possible to hate two groups at once.

This particular one consisted of a single sheet of newsprint, with printed matter on both sides. The main headline reads: "Zionists Control NAACP." The subhead reads "The NAACP, supposedly a negro organization, is controlled by Asiatic Marxist Jews who do not have the welfare of the negro at heart! They use the negro to create strife and disorder— the oldest trick in the book—divide and conquer!!"

The big lie in all this is that the Zionist movement has nothing whatsoever to do with American problems but deals only with the establishment of a Jewish state in Israel. Historically it can go back to any period in the Bible, or to the Bar Kochba Revolt (132-135) against Rome, or to the Basle Congress called by Dr. Theodor Herzl (1897). Zionism is the exact opposite from Communism, for whereas the latter is based upon dialectical materialism and is atheistic. Zionism is based upon the Biblical promise of God to Abraham concerning the land of Canaan.

The central feature of page 1 of "Common Sense" is a strip containing the photographs of negro leaders, namely Channing Tobias, Hulan E. Jack, Dr. Ralph Bunche, Congressman Adam Clayton Powell, Jr., W. E. B. DuBois, Thurgood Marshall, Roy Wilkins. The contention is that these negro leaders are Communists and under their names are listed a number of pro-Communist citations. No source is quoted; no names of organizations appear.

The printed matter accompanying these photographs is extraordinarily flammatory. Below are photographs of five Jews: Congressman Emanuel Celler, Herbert Lehman, Felix Frankfurter, Arthur Spingarn and Senator Jacob Javits. They are described as Marxists. To my knowledge, these men are not Marxists. Herbert Lehman, who had been Governor of the State of New York and a United States Senator, is described as "Most powerful in Marxist movements." This is not true. Of United States Supreme Court Justice Felix Frankfurter, "Common Sense" says: "This is obviously untrue in the very nature of the Supreme Court.

There is a picture of Dr. Louis Finkelstein and Chief Justice Earl Warren. The caption is "Warren Studies Talmudic Law Here." Dr. Louis Finkelstein is one of the great theologians of the world, a gentleman and a scholar, the author of many distinguished works.

I am sure that Justice Warren is not studying the Talmud or Jewish law. The Talmud appears in two series— the Jerusalem and the Babylonian. It is Hebrew and Aramaic and employs the scholastic method to reach a conclusion. It requires profound study, taking much of a life-time. Jewish law which Justice Warren is also supposed to be studying includes not only the Old Testament and the Talmud but also the Shulhan Aruch, Responsa of the Rabbis.

It would take Mr. Justice Warren the rest of his life to learn the languages, Hebrew and Aramaic, and the literature of these studies. The publication of this picture in this hate sheet can only be designed to humiliate both Dr. Finkelstein and Chief Justice Warren by implications that are false.

The other side of the sheet is more of the same, ending in a photograph of a negro and a white woman under the caption, "Mongrelization Is the Goal." Then it says that "Here is the inevitable result of integration. . ." I wonder if anyone has any statistics on the intermarriage of negroes and whites and the distribution of such marriage of negroes and whites and the distribution of such marriages over the United States.

I have sought such statistics in order to form some kind of a conclusion, but none seem to be available that can be accepted as authentic. It is understandable that such a photograph can stimulate antagonism in some areas, but no names are given as to the negro and white woman who are dancing together. Are they actors who posed for this picture or what is this?

"Anybody got a dime?"

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

AN AMERICAN TOURIST drooled over the "specialite de la maison" in a Paris restaurant, and entreated the chef to reveal the recipe. "Eet is very simple," declared the chef. "One takes merely a thick slice of beef, mushrooms, tomatoes, mustard, salt, a leetle water —"

"Just how much water?" cut in the tourist, writing furiously.

"As I told you, a leetle," repeated the chef. "Me, I use about one mouthful."

Helpful Rules for Drinkers

By Herman N. Bundesen, M.D.

About 70,000,000 Americans drink some form of alcohol beverage, most of them occasionally, some of them fairly regularly, and a few of them habitually.

To about 65,000,000 of these drinkers, alcohol presents no serious problem. The other 4,712,000 have real problems. They are alcoholics.

I know you have heard alcoholism described as a disease; it becomes steadily worse unless it is cured.

I have written many columns in the past about alcohomism and alcoholics and what to do for them. Now I would like to direct my efforts to the majority instead of the minority — the other 65,000,000 drinkers who have not yet become souses.

A recent edition of the Catholic Digest contained some helpful advice to those occasional drinkers who are a little concerned about their drinking.

So to help those of you who want to stay on this side of the trouble zone, here are five simple drinking rules to follow:

1. Set aside a certain period of time—say, at least one day a week —during which you won't take a drink, not even one.
2. Delay that first drink of the day as long as you can and skip a round if you are out with the fellows or girls.
3. At parties, substitute plain water or a soft drink for the alcohol every other time.
4. Survey each drink very thoughtfully before taking it. If you don't really want it, don't take it.
5. Make every drink a small but pleasant rite and sip it critically.

These rules are designed to help you slow down on your drinking.

Alcoholic beverages in themselves may not be bad things. It is the abuse, not so much the use, which causes trouble.

The great majority of you drink for pleasure, to relax and to be sociable. Drinking is a personal choice, a matter of individual taste.

The person who can stop after one or two drinks is not an alcoholic. Neither is the steady but moderate drinker.

The line, however, between the alcoholic and the non-alcoholic is a thin one.

Question and Answer

H. B. Could tularemia be transmitted from one person to another?

A. Tularemia is rarely, if ever, carried from one person to another.

This disease is acquired by handling the carcass, or eating the undercooked flesh of infected animals or by being bitten by an insect which has previously fed on a diseased animal that had tularemia.

Rabbits not infrequently suffer from tularemia.

Paris subways filter long jets of perfume into their ventilating systems. Carnation is most popular with the underground traveling public, but attar of roses, jasmine and lilac also are used.

Canon Law Holds Few Curbs On Who Can Become Pope

By TOM HENSHAW
AP Religion Writer

Chances are the solemn Vatican conclave that opens today will wind up in a day or two with the selection of an Italian cardinal as the new Pope.

It doesn't have to be that way. Canon law places remarkably few restrictions on the election of a spiritual head for the Roman Catholic Church. He need only be a male Catholic who has reached the age of reason unsullied by heresy or schism.

The informal rules, however, are strict.

There has not been a non-Italian pope in more than four centuries, not since the Dutch-born Adrian VI ascended the papal throne in 1552 for a reign that lasted little more than a year.

The last noncardinal to be chosen was the unfortunate Urban VI, whose election in 1378 was declared invalid three months later by the cardinals who elected him. They claimed they voted under duress.

The revocation opened what is known as the Western Schism when, for 39 years, Western Christendom was confused by the presence of two—and at one point three—rival claimants to the papacy.

There even have been laymen popes, the last of whom apparently was St. Celestine V, an ascetic lay monk elected in 1294. He resigned after five months when he found himself ill-equipped to handle the office.

It is generally agreed among Catholics that the Pope to be elected in the next few days will be the 262nd successor to St. Peter, founder of the Roman Church. But no one can make the statement with absolute certainty.

It depends on how you count Stephen II, who was elected on March 23, 752, and died two days later before his ordination. In those days the pope's reign was dated from ordination. Now it starts with election.

It also depends on how you count Benedict IX, who was elected in 1033 at the age of 12, deposed in 1044, reinstated the following year, removed again after a 20-day reign, and installed a third time in 1047.

Helpful Rules for Drinkers

By Herman N. Bundesen, M.D.

About 70,000,000 Americans drink some form of alcohol beverage, most of them occasionally, some of them fairly regularly, and a few of them habitually.

To about 65,000,000 of these drinkers, alcohol presents no serious problem. The other 4,712,000 have real problems. They are alcoholics.

I know you have heard alcoholism described as a disease; it becomes steadily worse unless it is cured.

I have written many columns in the past about alcohomism and alcoholics and what to do for them. Now I would like to direct my efforts to the majority instead of the minority — the other 65,000,000 drinkers who have not yet become souses.

A recent edition of the Catholic Digest contained some helpful advice to those occasional drinkers who are a little concerned about their drinking.

So to help those of you who want to stay on this side of the trouble zone, here are five simple drinking rules to follow:

1. Set aside a certain period of time—say, at least one day a week—during which you won't take a drink, not even one.

2. Delay that first drink of the day as long as you can and skip a round if you are out with the fellows or girls.

3. At parties, substitute plain water or a soft drink for the alcohol every other time.

4. Survey each drink very thoughtfully before taking it. If you don't really want it, don't take it.

5. Make every drink a small but pleasant rite and sip it critically.

These rules are designed to help you slow down on your drinking.

Alcoholic beverages in themselves may not be bad things. It is the abuse, not so much the use, which causes trouble.

The great majority of you drink for pleasure, to relax and to be sociable. Drinking is a personal choice, a matter of individual taste.

The person who can stop after one or two drinks is not an alcoholic. Neither is the steady but moderate drinker.

The line, however, between the alcoholic and the non-alcoholic is a thin one.

Question and Answer

H. B. Could tularemia be transmitted from one person to another?

A. Tularemia is rarely, if ever, carried from one person to another.

This disease is acquired by handling the carcass, or eating the undercooked flesh of infected animals or by being bitten by an insect which has previously fed on a diseased animal that had tularemia.

Rabbits not infrequently suffer from tularemia.

Paris subways filter long jets of perfume into their ventilating systems. Carnation is most popular with the underground traveling public, but attar of roses, jasmine and lilac also are used.

Mrs. Thomas Announces 'M' Day Set for Next Week

Mrs. Andrew Thomas has announced that Monday and Tuesday will be "M" Day for the ladies of St. Philip's parish. The ladies will gather at the parish house to can mincemeat which will be sold during the annual bazaar.

The bazaar, "Country Store" will be held from 10 a. m. to 6 p. m. Thursday, November 6.

The canning of the mincemeat will be under the supervision of Miss Besse Fry and Mrs. Thomas with a possible assistance from Mrs. Frank Davis and Mrs. William Moran.

The mincemeat is made from a 100-year-old recipe. Several years ago some visitors from out of town stopped in to St. Philip's to meditate and pray. At the church exit they met the Rev. Jack Bennett (then rector of St. Philip's) and asked "what kind of wonderful incense do you use?"

The Rev. Bennett had to admit that this church did not use incense but that the ladies of the church were in the parish hall canning mincemeat for the annual bazaar.

Mrs. Thomas stated last year 64 pints were prepared and quickly sold out. This year the ladies are hoping to turn out more. Each year Mrs. Charles Rife assists the canners with considerable donations toward the ingredients.

Other home cookings offered at previous bazaars have consisted of such goodies as cookies, country butter, home made cottage cheese, "from-scratch" cakes, pies, canned goods, pickles, jellies, jams, fruit cakes, cup cakes, home made noodles and other mouth watering offerings.

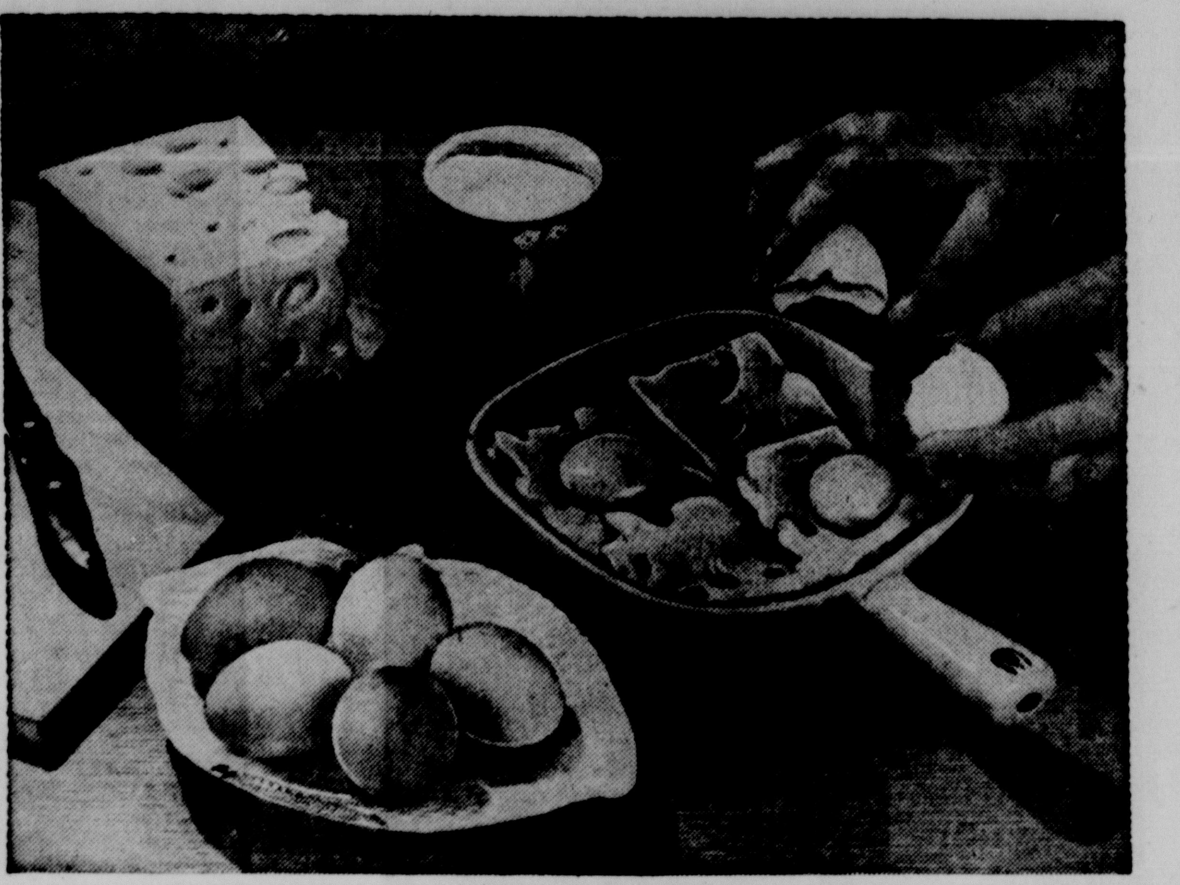
Ooh, La La! Les Oeufs!



THE FRENCH BREAK EGGS over Switzerland Swiss cheese for a delicious baked dish called Eggs Lorraine. It has a bottom layer of bacon slices and is topped off with sour cream.

By JOAN O'SULLIVAN

All travelers returned from France have found "a little restaurant."

"Not a tourist spot," they'll tell you, "but a place where French families dine. The food! Magnifique! Superbe!"

They've been sampling, not grande cuisine but cuisine bourgeoise, the type of food a French wife prepares for her family.

Such recipes rate adjectives in any language so, if you want to hear the family sound off with "Swell! Good! Great!" pick up a copy of "The Art of French Cooking" by Fernande Garvin. It's a pocket-size cookbook of simple, easy family recipes.

THERE are wonderful meat dishes—and, with French thrift, many utilize the less expensive cuts. Sauces, too, are designed to give budget buys an expensively flavorful taste.

Spices and seasonings do wonderful things with fish. Vegetable recipes are superb, not mere "boiled" accompaniments to a main course but special dishes in themselves.

What to try first? Ooh la! la! les oeufs! That's where we began eating our way through this tempting book.

The French have a flair for egg dishes and omelets, as you'll discover if you try Piperade, Eggs Lorraine or any of the omelet variations Madame Garvin includes. Eggs Lorraine is a special favorite or ours. We can remember the first time we sampled it at one of those special "little restaurants" —just outside Paris, of course!

PIPERADE: Cut 4 slives bacon into small pieces and heat in large, heavy skillet. Add 1 large onion, sliced. Cook until onion becomes transparent.

Add 4 slices Canadian bacon, cut into small slices, 4 green peppers, cut into strips ½-in. wide, 1 (1 lb., 12-oz.) can tomatoes, drained and mashed, 1 clove garlic, crushed, ½ tsp. salt, ¼ tsp. freshly ground pepper. Cook 30 min., stirring occasionally.

Add 2 tbsp. fresh bread crumbs. Continue cooking 15 minutes.

In another skillet, heat 1 tbsp. butter. Add 8 eggs, slightly beaten. Cook briskly, stirring gently with fork until eggs are set.

Stir in mixture from other skillet. Garnish with 4 slices French bread which have been fried in butter. Serve hot. Makes 4 portions.

EGGS LORRAINE: Lay 4 slices Canadian bacon in pie dish. Place 2 thin slices of Swiss cheese, each cut into 2 pieces, over bacon. Break 4 eggs on top of cheese. Add ½ tsp. salt and ¼ tsp. white pepper. Cover with ¼ c. sour cream. Bake at 400 degrees F. 20 min. or until whites of eggs are well set. Serve hot. This will serve 4.

TUNA FISH OMELET: Combine in a bowl 4 eggs, 1 tbsp. cream and ½ tsp. salt. Beat gently. Add ⅛ c. canned tuna fish, cut into small pieces.

In skillet, heat 1 tbsp. vegetable oil briskly hot. Add eggs, and stir briskly with back of fork. When thickened, stop stirring and continue cooking for a fewseconds, tinue cooking for a few seconds, gently shaking pan back and forth over heat.

Take skillet off fire. With fork, fold one-third of omelet over center, then fold other third over first. Slide onto heated serving plates. Serves 2 people as a main course.

Carter Caves Scene for Picnic

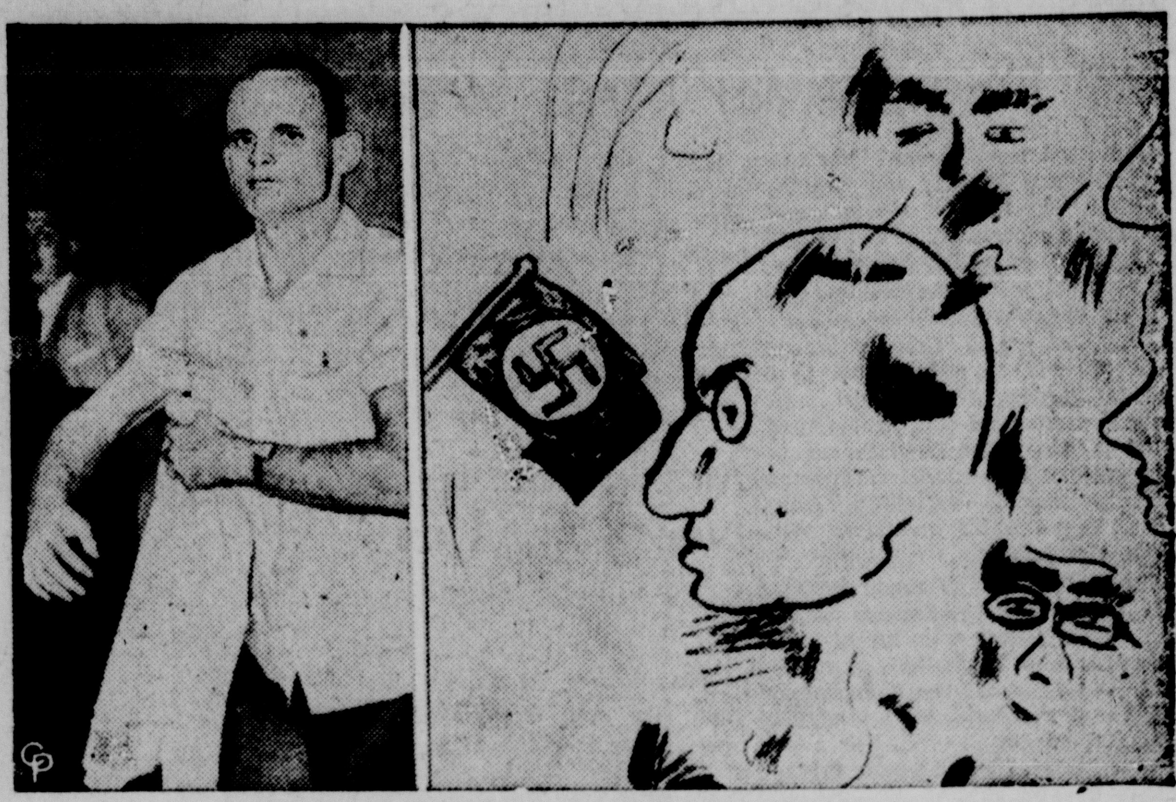
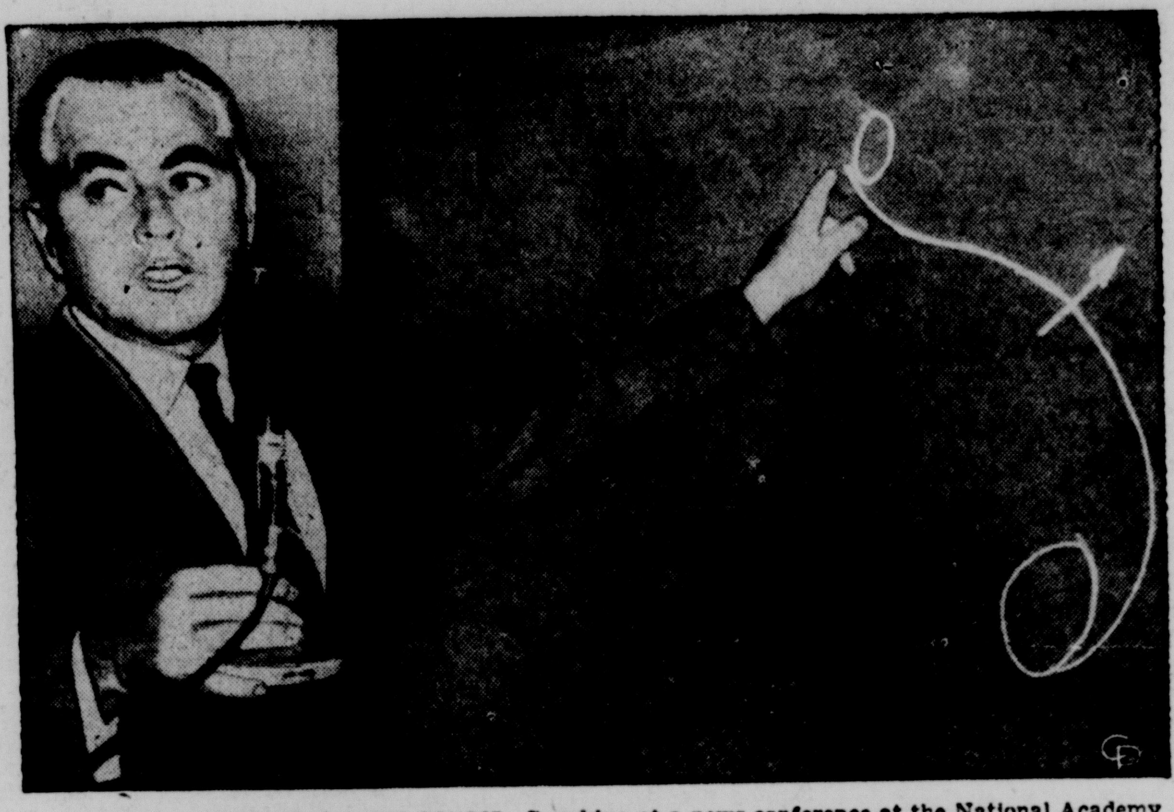
RE-ENACT CHICAGO FIRE OF 1871—Dressed as Catherine and Patrick O'Leary, owners of the cow that kicked over the lantern, John Baldwin and Charles O'Connell beat a fast retreat from a burning shed. The scene was re-enacted on the spot where the shed blaze started the great Chicago fire of 1871. This will be the last re-enactment on the site as the city's Fire Department will erect a $5,000,000 academy there. The ceremony was held in observance of Fire Prevention Week.

IN INTERNATIONAL SET—Leave it to cats to get around, whether the locale is an alley or somewhere on the continent. These Siamese kittens, displayed by Claudie Rennesson, French beauty winner, are at the International Cat Show in Paris.



HELD IN BLAST INQUIRY—One of five suspects questioned by Atlanta, Ga., police in connection with the dynamiting of a Jewish synagogue was Wallace H. Allen, 32, shown (left) at the Atlanta police headquarters. Found in Allen's home, police say, was anti-Semitic literature and penciled drawings at right, in which the Nazi swastika is given prominent display in one corner.

WENT WRONG—A photographer's flashbulb illuminates a scene that tells the horrors of dope addiction. Lying under this railroad bridge in New York's Bronx is Herbito Rodriguez, only 19. No bullet wounds, no knife wounds, no marks of violence. "Overdose of narcotics," said autopsy report.



WHERE THE PIONEER WENT OFF COURSE—Speaking at a news conference at the National Academy of Sciences in Washington, Dr. Lewis Dunn, president of the Space Technology laboratories in California, shows where America's Pioneer moon rocket went off course after reaching an altitude of 79.212 miles. The Pioneer apparently crashed into the atmosphere over the South Pacific.

VEGAS LASS—Felicia Atkins, a showgirl, wouldn't you know, strikes this fetching poolside pose to emphasize, let us put it, that she and Gary Crosby are just friends. Felicia is from Australia, and intends to become an American citizen soon.

CHILD SURVIVES FALL—Mrs. Rosemary Bond, 18, comforts her son, Michael, 2, in a San Francisco hospital after the boy fell 15 feet from the roof of a three-story building to an adjoining house top. The child suffered a possible skull fracture.

FACES KILLING CHARGE—Leo Peters, 68, looks grim in Delaware, O., in face of second degree murder accusation over the killing of Ohio Wesleyan university sophomore Keith Hutchinson, 19, at the Peters fruit stand (above) a half mile north of Delaware. Peters told authorities he thought Hutchinson and a companion in a convertible were trying to steal from the stand, and that he fired three shots, two in the air, one at the car. A bullet pierced Hutchinson's neck, and the suburban Cleveland resident died in a hospital. There had been previous thefts, Peters said.

PUMPKIN HEAVYWEIGHTS—John Tavares is weighing a huge pumpkin that scaled in at 206 pounds, 12 pounds heavier than the one in front. They are part of the bumper crop on Tavares' farm in Acushnet, Mass. A baker said the big pumpkin would provide enough to fill 175 pies.

HAVE A NIP, PAL—Because they are pals, Nini just closes his eyes as Bingo takes a nip at his ear. The cat and parakeet are pets of Mrs. Elizabeth Bertrand, Cranston, R. I.

BIG GUNS FOR ARMY—While Army's fleet backs have taken much of the play this year, the forward wall has done a fine job and heading the linemen are the guards, Bob Novogratz (left) of Northhampton, Pa., and Al Vanderbush of Midland Park, N. J. Coach Earl Blaik of Army calls Novogratz the finest lineman in the country. He's made 58 tackles to date.

TOWNSEND FIANCEE?—Friends of former Group Capt. Peter Townsend, onetime heart throb of Britain's Princess Margaret, say he may wed Belgian photographer Marie-Luce Jamagne (above), who is accompanying him on a tour. He denies story.

SETTING STAGE FOR COURT TEST—Forcing a legal test of the city's "driver option" policy on city bus seating in Birmingham, Ala., some of 13 Negroes sit in one of two buses the 13 chose to board. The 13 were placed under $900 bond each on charges of disorderly conduct, conspiracy to commit a breach of the peace and conspiracy to cause a breach of the peace. They are testing a new city segregation policy in which refusal of passengers to follow driver's "reasonable request" for seating constitutes a breach of the peace.

TENTH, AND ALL BOYS—"I really didn't expect a girl," says Joseph Arcuri as he poses with his family in Cleveland. Mrs. Arcuri holds No. 10, Jude. The others are (from left) Joe, 18; John, 16; Jerome, 15; Joel, 12; James, 11; Jeffrey, 8; Julius, 5; Jan, 4; Jay, 3. Arcuri's a bus driver.

PASSING GRADE?—Eddie LeBaron, who does so well at passing for the Washington Redskins, seeks a passing grade at George Washington university where he is studying law.

Baltimore, Frisco Games Already Heated By Advance Remarks

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The National Football League, a park packing operation even on a quiet Sunday, adds some feudin' and fussin' this time around—to the jingle of the coin boxes from coast to coast.

If stadium overflows are permitted under local laws in Baltimore and San Francisco, they'll have them Sunday when the Washington Redskins play the Colts at Baltimore's Memorial Stadium and the Chicago Bears meet the 49ers at Kezar Stadium in San Francisco.

They are feudin' and fussin' these four—the Colts with the Redskins because of remarks Washington owner George Preston Marshall made at a Baltimore luncheon, and the 49ers and the Bears because of complaints that NFL officials occasionally look the other way for Papa Bear George Halas.

"Wait 'til we get you Sunday," was the Colts' reply after Marshall took outspoken exception to a Colt player's quip that the Skins didn't give him train fare home when he was cut from the roster a few years back.

"Wait 'till we get you back home," was coach Frankie Albert's answer to the Bears' 28-6 whipping of the 49ers in Chicago two weeks ago.

There is a good deal at stake in each game, features of a full six-game NFL Sunday program. In the others, the Cleveland Browns bid for their fifth straight victory against the Cards at Chicago, the Detroit Lions meet the Rams at Los Angeles, the Pittsburgh Steelers challenge the Giants at New York, and the Philadelphia Eagles meet the Packers in Green Bay.

Argentina Enters International Race

LAUREL, Md. (AP)—The lineup for the $100,000 International race on Nov. 11 today acquired Revoque, a 3-year-old from Argentina.

The bay colt owned by Dr. Erwin Wasserman of Buenos Aires is the seventh from six countries aligned for the mile and a half race on the grass.

The other probable starters in the seventh International are Clem of the United States, Ballymoss of Ireland, Orsini of Germany, Sailor's Guide of Australia, Garnyr and Zaryad from Russia.

Jackie Jensen of the Boston Re Sox has led the American Leagde twice in runs batted in. He drove home 116 in 1955 and 122 in 1958

Warren Trips Top-Ranking Massillon '11'

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A first period touchdown provided the 6-0 victory margin as Warren, fifth ranked in the state in The Associated Press high school football poll, upset top ranking Massillon Friday night.

In the only other upset, Salem edged seventh ranked Youngstown East 19-18.

The other top teams in the state ran true to form, in most cases, piling up huge margins over their opponents.

Fourth-ranked Marion Harding trounced Ashland 56-14. Springfield, eighth-ranked, rolled over Dayton Stivers 82-0 and Elyria, ninth, walloped Findlay 56-0. Newark, No. 6, rolled up a 52-0 score on Coshocton and Alliance, No. 2, put down a stubborn Canton McKinley team 16-0.

Today's games among the top ten will see third ranked Cleveland Cathedral Latin take on Cleveland John Adams while 10th place Canton Central Catholic goes against Canton Lincoln.

THROW, MAN, THROW!—Lightest man in the National pro league and one of the smallest, Eddie Le Baron, former College of Pacific star who quarterbacks the Washington Redskins, is leading the league in passing with 25 completions in 44 throws for 426 yards, an average of 9.68 yards on each attempted pass. Liston Nearly Collects KO

Whitehurst Reeling Outside Ring at End

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Only the final bell prevented big Charles (Sonny) Liston from knocking out durable Bert Whitehurst Friday night in his pursuit of a match with heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson.

The 212½-pound Liston, winner of all except one of his 21 pro fights, sent Whitehurst reeling clear out of the ring with a flurry of blows at the end of the 10th and final round.

Referee Harry Kessler had reached the count of eight—and the glassy-eyed Whitehurst was trying to climb back through the ropes—when the final bell sounded. He was dazed and it was obvious he could not have gone on with the fight, Liston's 14th consecutive victory.

Liston, who has won 12 of his fights by knockouts and is rated ninth among Patterson's challengers, praised his opponent in the nationally televised heavyweight fight for his gameness.

"He was determined not to be knocked out," Liston said. "He hung on. He covered up. He did everything—but he just wouldn't go down."

Whitehurst, a 190-pound journeyman fighter from Baltimore, said other ranking contenders are steering clear of Liston, a former St. Louisian now fighting out of Philadelphia.

The 25-year-old Liston said that, naturally, he would like a shot at the title but he indicated he doesn't expect one in the immediate future. "I'd be glad to get a fight with any of them up there in the top five."

Pep Barrone, Liston's manager since he moved to Philadelphia, said he thought Liston "could have gone another five rounds at the same pace."

Cardinals Romp In Tokyo Contest

TOKYO (AP) — The St. Louis Cardinals slaughtered three pitchers with 13 hits today to win their second straight from Japan's All-Stars 8-2 in a rainswept game called after six innings.

Stan "The Man" Musial got a three-bagger and two singles in four tries. He scored one run and batted in another.

A four-run blast in the fourth chased Japan's sensational Kazuhisa "Ironman" Inao, hero of the Japan "world" series, from the mound and also sent Takao Kajimoto to the showers.

Al Kaline of the Detroit Tigers hit two home runs in one inning against the Kansas City Athletics in 1955.

Brown, 55, of Sea Girt, N.J., won his semifinals match Friday from Frederick Holmes, Riviera Beach, Fla., 3 and 2. Brittain also won 3 and 2 over James H. McAlvin of Lake Forest, Ill.

Grid Contest Slated Tonight

CINCINNATI (AP)—The traditional football fight tonight between Xavier of Ohio and Dayton involves teams that have each had troubles of all sorts this season.

Dayton, until it trounced Louisville, 26-13 last week, had put across only three touchdowns in four games.

Xavier, winning only two of its six games, has scored only nine markers.

Neither team has great depth. Xavier's Musketeers have had a porous pass defense. But Dayton's Flyers have had indifferent success through the air, completing 33 of 70 passing tries.

Dayton has its steadiest performer in Fullback Vince Palyan, a 195-pounder, who averages 4.1 yards per carry and has rolled up 306 yards this season.

The burden of Musketeers rushing has fallen to Halfback Terry Meyer who has a 3.9 average in piling up 301 yards.

End John Schroeder of the North Carolina football team lost a shoe and a chance to get a first down in the game against North Carolina State.

Feudin', Fussin' Add Sparkle to Pro Grid Menu

Baltimore, Frisco Games Already Heated By Advance Remarks

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The National Football League, a park packing operation even on a quiet Sunday, adds some feudin' and fussin' this time around—to the jingle of the coin boxes from coast to coast.

If stadium overflows are permitted under local laws in Baltimore and San Francisco, they'll have them Sunday when the Washington Redskins play the Colts at Baltimore's Memorial Stadium and the Chicago Bears meet the 49ers at Kezar Stadium in San Francisco.

They are feudin' and fussin' these four—the Colts with the Redskins because of remarks Washington owner George Preston Marshall made at a Baltimore luncheon, and the 49ers and the Bears because of complaints that NFL officials occasionally look the other way for Papa Bear George Halas.

"Wait 'til we get you Sunday," was the Colts' reply after Marshall took outspoken exception to a Colt player's quip that the Skins didn't give him train fare home when he was cut from the roster a few years back.

"Wait 'till we get you back home," was coach Frankie Albert's answer to the Bears' 28-6 whipping of the 49ers in Chicago two weeks ago.

There is a good deal at stake in each game, features of a full six-game NFL Sunday program. In the others, the Cleveland Browns bid for their fifth straight victory against the Cards at Chicago, the Detroit Lions meet the Rams at Los Angeles, the Pittsburgh Steelers challenge the Giants at New York, and the Philadelphia Eagles meet the Packers in Green Bay.

Argentina Enters International Race

LAUREL, Md. (AP)—The lineup for the $100,000 International race on Nov. 11 today acquired Revoque, a 3-year-old from Argentina.

The bay colt owned by Dr. Erwin Wasserman of Buenos Aires is the seventh from six countries aligned for the mile and a half race on the grass.

The other probable starters in the seventh International are Clem of the United States, Ballymoss of Ireland, Orsini of Germany, Sailor's Guide of Australia, Garnyr and Zaryad from Russia.

Jackie Jensen of the Boston Re Sox has led the American Leagde twice in runs batted in. He drove home 116 in 1955 and 122 in 1958

Warren Trips Top-Ranking Massillon '11'

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A first period touchdown provided the 6-0 victory margin as Warren, fifth ranked in the state in The Associated Press high school football poll, upset top ranking Massillon Friday night.

In the only other upset, Salem edged seventh ranked Youngstown East 19-18.

The other top teams in the state ran true to form, in most cases, piling up huge margins over their opponents.

Fourth-ranked Marion Harding trounced Ashland 56-14. Springfield, eighth-ranked, rolled over Dayton Stivers 82-0 and Elyria, ninth, walloped Findlay 56-0. Newark, No. 6, rolled up a 52-0 score on Coshocton and Alliance, No. 2, put down a stubborn Canton McKinley team 16-0.

Today's games among the top ten will see third ranked Cleveland Cathedral Latin take on Cleveland John Adams while 10th place Canton Central Catholic goes against Canton Lincoln.

THROW, MAN, THROW!—Lightest man in the National pro league and one of the smallest, Eddie Le Baron, former College of Pacific star who quarterbacks the Washington Redskins, is leading the league in passing with 25 completions in 44 throws for 426 yards, an average of 9.68 yards on each attempted pass. (Central Press)

Liston Nearly Collects KO

Whitehurst Reeling Outside Ring at End

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Only the final bell prevented big Charles (Sonny) Liston from knocking out durable Bert Whitehurst Friday night in his pursuit of a match with heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson.

The 212½-pound Liston, winner of all except one of his 21 pro fights, sent Whitehurst reeling clear out of the ring with a flurry of blows at the end of the 10th and final round.

Referee Harry Kessler had reached the count of eight—and the glassy-eyed Whitehurst was trying to climb back through the ropes—when the final bell sounded. He was dazed and it was obvious he could not have gone on with the fight, Liston's 14th consecutive victory.

Liston, who has won 12 of his fights by knockouts and is rated ninth among Patterson's challengers, praised his opponent in the nationally televised heavyweight fight for his gameness.

"He was determined not to be knocked out," Liston said. "He hung on. He covered up. He did everything—but he just wouldn't go down."

Whitehurst, a 190-pound journeyman fighter from Baltimore, said other ranking contenders are steering clear of Liston, a former St. Louisian now fighting out of Philadelphia.

The 25-year-old Liston said that, naturally, he would like a shot at the title but he indicated he doesn't expect one in the immediate future. "I'd be glad to get a fight with any of them up there in the top five."

Pep Barrone, Liston's manager since he moved to Philadelphia, said he thought Liston "could have gone another five rounds at the same pace."

Cardinals Romp In Tokyo Contest

TOKYO (AP) — The St. Louis Cardinals slaughtered three pitchers with 13 hits today to win their second straight from Japan's All-Stars 8-2 in a rainswept game called after six innings.

Stan "The Man" Musial got a three-bagger and two singles in four tries. He scored one run and batted in another.

A four-run blast in the fourth chased Japan's sensational Kazuhisa "Ironman" Inao, hero of the Japan "world" series, from the mound and also sent Takao Kajimoto to the showers.

Al Kaline of the Detroit Tigers hit two home runs in one inning against the Kansas City Athletics in 1955.

THEY AIM TO PLEASE!—Three of the nation's top passers take aim for the cameraman above. They include Joe Tranchini of Navy, Reece Whitley of Virginia, Dick Thornton of Northwestern.

Finals Slated Today In Senior Tourney

PINEHURST, N.C. (AP) — J. Wolcott Brown, reigning Southern Seniors golf champion, and food broker Jack Brittain Sr. of Woodhaven, N.Y., were to play 18 holes at Pinehurst Country Club today for the North and South Seniors golf title.

Brown, 55, of Sea Girt, N.J., won his semifinals match Friday from Frederick Holmes, Riviera Beach, Fla., 3 and 2. Brittain also won 3 and 2 over James H. McAlvin of Lake Forest, Ill.

Grid Contest Slated Tonight

CINCINNATI (AP)—The traditional football fight tonight between Xavier of Ohio and Dayton involves teams that have each had troubles of all sorts this season.

Dayton, until it trounced Louisville, 26-13 last week, had put across only three touchdowns in four games.

Xavier, winning only two of its six games, has scored only nine markers.

Neither team has great depth. Xavier's Musketeers have had a porous pass defense. But Dayton's Flyers have had indifferent success through the air, completing 33 of 70 passing tries.

Dayton has its steadiest performer in Fullback Vince Palyan, a 195-pounder, who averages 4.1 yards per carry and has rolled up 306 yards this season.

The burden of Musketeers rushing has fallen to Halfback Terry Meyer who has a 3.9 average in piling up 301 yards.

End John Schroeder of the North Carolina football team lost a shoe and a chance to get a first down in the game against North Carolina State.

Delphos Coed To Head OSU

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio State's 1958 Homecoming Queen is a blonde, green-eyed beauty who likes music and people and wants to be a social worker.

She is Sherry Stienecker, a 5-foot, 1-inch, junior in the College of Arts. Her hometown is Delphos, Ohio.

Sherry was elected in a campus-wide vote from among five finalists. The other four—Clara Frick of Toledo, Joan Peters of Springfield, Sue Dillahunt of Columbus and Iris Maybruck of Springfield—will make up her court.

Sherry and her court will be presented at halftime ceremonies at today's football game with Wisconsin. Sherry's election was announced Friday night at the annual homecoming dance.

Sherry, who once reigned as homecoming queen at Delphos Jefferson High School, is vice president of Mack Hall, a campus women's residence. She is majoring in psychology.

College Grid Attendance on Upswing Now

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

During the first half of the 1958 season, attendance at college football games has registered gains ranging from the moderate to the spectacular in all but four major conferences.

The over-all picture, in midseason statistics gathered by The Associated Press, shows a comfortable gain of 3.33 per cent. The average major college game this year has been played before 25,063 spectators, an increase of 811 over the average for a comparable period last year.

Only in the Big Ten, the Big Eight Missouri Valley and Southern Conferences has attendance declined. The dips range from 4.82 per cent in the Missouri Valley to 0.61 per cent in the Southern.

Biggest increase percentage-wise was registered in the Skyline, where crowds have been 16.24 per cent higher. That's a matter of some 1,900 customers a game in an area that's rather sparsely populated.

Conversely, Big Ten crowds dropped more than 2,000 per game but in percentages it was only a 3.80 decline.

Many of the attendance figures given by the colleges were estimated and subject to revision at the end of the year.

College Grid Attendance on Upswing Now

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

During the first half of the 1958 season, attendance at college football games has registered gains ranging from the moderate to the spectacular in all but four major conferences.

The over-all picture, in midseason statistics gathered by The Associated Press, shows a comfortable gain of 3.33 per cent. The average major college game this year has been played before 25,063 spectators, an increase of 811 over the average for a comparable period last year.

Only in the Big Ten, the Big Eight Missouri Valley and Southern Conferences has attendance declined. The dips range from 4.82 per cent in the Missouri Valley to 0.61 per cent in the Southern.

Biggest increase percentage-wise was registered in the Skyline, where crowds have been 16.24 per cent higher. That's a matter of some 1,900 customers a game in an area that's rather sparsely populated.

Conversely, Big Ten crowds dropped more than 2,000 per game but in percentages it was only a 3.80 decline.

Many of the attendance figures given by the colleges were estimated and subject to revision at the end of the year.

Young Actor Hopes TV Series To Boost His Movie Stock

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Why does a fellow give up a promising career in movies to cast his lot with the TV gunslingers?

Gene Barry gives a perfectly logical explanation, and it's not just money.

The lad plays a gunslinger and cane-carrier as Bat Masterson on the Wednesday night NBC series. Last year he did three films at highly respectable salaries. Not many young actors can make that statement. So why did he choose TV?

"Because the movie industry is controlled by the bankers today," he explained. "They want insurance when they invest in a picture, and that means the established stars. So you see the same faces doing all the big pictures, and the newcomer doesn't have a chance.

"I had my best year last year, but I still couldn't get the top-notch class of picture. So I decided to try a TV series. Perhaps the exposure I am getting will convince the bankers to take a chance on me in big movies.

"If things go as they have been, I think it might happen. I've had more publicity and recognition in the three weeks that the show has been on the air than I have in the seven years I was in pictures."

Then there is that other matter we mentioned: money. Gene admitted it was a convincing factor in signing with Ziv.

"Richard Carlson and I have the same agent, so I know what kind of money he has made on 'I Led Three Lives,'" the actor said. "At the time I was considering the Bat Masterson series, Dick had received over $600,000 in residuals alone. My deal is even better than his. I have merchandising rights, the opportunity to do rodeos, outside pictures and even TV appearances on other networks."

Of course, his visions of gold are predicated in the show's success. It seems to be taking off nicely. Coupled with Milton Berle, the show has done well in the ratings and has even exceeded Uncle Miltie in some areas.

'Work' Issue's Vote Effect on O'Neill Studied

'Beefsteak Rebellion' Of 1946 Is Recalled By Political Observers

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Politicians rank this year's election "Work" battle alongside Ohio's 1946 "Beefsteak Rebellion" for intensity.

But they disagree on whether it protends for Republican Gov. C. William O'Neill the fate suffered by Democrat Gov. Frank J. Lausche after a first term.

Lausche's friends cite the "Beefsteak Rebellion" as a major factor in his defeat for a second term. That was the year Lausche, now U.S. senator, lost to Republican Thomas J. Herbert, now Ohio Supreme Court judge.

Housewives especially were incensed because steaks were hard to buy. They and their families demanded that the Truman administration end World War II controls, including red meat rationing.

But the controls remained when Election Day came. Voters in Ohio and elsewhere turned out Democrats for Republicans in protest. Herbert won by more than 40,000 votes.

This year's campaign features the issue of labor contract regulation. O'Neill has gone all out in support of proposed constitutional amendment No. 2.

The proposal seeks to outlaw union shop contracts requiring workers to join a union to hold their jobs.

"I will vote for right to work," says O'Neill in urging Ohioans to do likewise.

His Democratic opponent, Michael V. DiSalle, opposes the proposal. So does the Democratic state platform. The GOP state platform is neutral.

DiSalle accuses O'Neill of using the amendment as a smoke screen to hide administration problems that he says will remain after voters settle the "Work" issue on Nov. 4. O'Neill asserts that decision will affect Ohio for years to come.

Lausche backs DiSalle's bid for election but favors the constitutional amendment.

His stand is a sample of the crosswinds whipped up by the campaign issue. Sentiment for and against the proposal crosses party, religious, racial and other lines. Even organized labor opponents aren't certain of solid rank and file following.

Veteran politicians shake their heads over the outcome. Some feel it will make O'Neill a champion and assure him a four-year term. Others think the controversy will sink O'Neill and make DiSalle a shoo-in. But many appear too uncertain to bet either way. They expect a close finish.

Most agree that the outcome will have a bearing on races for other offices, especially the state, congressional and legislative posts. None expects the uncertainty to be resolved before the votes are counted 10 days hence.

Reserve Bank Orders Hike in Interest Rate

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new increase in the Federal Reserve System's discount rate goes into effect today. Financial circles doubt it will have any major impact on other interest charges.

The Federal Reserve Board announced late Thursday that the discount rate would be increased to 2½ per cent in 5 of the 12 reserve districts — Philadelphia, Minneapolis, Richmond, St. Louis and Dallas. Other districts will maintain the old 2 per cent rate for a time but are expected to adopt the increase later.

A hike in the discount, or interest charged when member banks borrow money from the reserve system, usually is intended to tighten credit and fight inflation.

A board spokesman indicated this latest increase—the second in about two months—was based on another consideration: a desire by the board to bring the rate closer into line with other short-term interest charges.

The spokesman noted that the gap between the 2 per cent discount rate and the current 2.8 per cent yield on 91-day Treasury bills was unusual. The board normally keeps the discount rate higher than the bill rate, to discourage banks from borrowing to buy bills.

Wall Streeters said the increase had been expected and that market prices had adjusted to it in advance. One bond expert said the increase might give an upward jolt to short-term rates. However, he said this would be only temporary, and should not affect intermediate and long-term bond issues. New York markets were closed when the announcement came.

Mother of 7 Wins Car but Faces Relief Check Loss

OLEAN, N.Y. (AP)—A widowed mother of seven must decide whether to keep a foreign car she won in a drawing or give up welfare assistance for her family.

A drive is under way among the populace to let her keep both. More than 500 names have been put on a petition posted in a store.

Mrs. Frank Marshall, 38, said today she wants to keep the car, a German single-seater, and is trying to find a job to help support her children. They are 4 to 17 years old.

Welfare Department officials said they would give her reasonable time to decide.

Under state law, she must convert the car to cash and turn the money over to the department if she continues on relief.

Ike Is Elated By Living Costs

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower today hailed the announcement that the cost of living remained unchanged last month as proof that business recovery is possible without inflation.

"We must preserve this stability in the value of the dollar without recourse to stifling controls," Eisenhower said in a statement.

The consumer price index for September, released Thursday, was 123.7 per cent of the 1947-49 average, the same as in August and one tenth of a point below July. It still is 2.1 per cent higher than a year ago.

"I was gratified to learn from yesterday's report on consumer prices that the cost of living, virtually stable since last May, has continued unchanged," Eisenhower said.

Baldwin-Wallace Loses Star Gridder

CLEVELAND (AP)—Bob Finowski, Baldwin - Wallace College's leading football scorer with 44 points this season, was declared ineligible by Coach Lee Tressell just before the team's game with St. Vincent Friday night. It was learned the freshman was a transfer from the University of Iowa.

Finowski said he had attended Iowa for 10 days in the spring of 1956. Under the National Collegiate Athletic Assn. ruling, he must serve one year's residency at Baldwin-Wallace before becoming eligible to compete in intercollegiate athletics.

The NCAA must rule whether the school has to forfeit its games because of the ineligible player. The Yellow Jackets have defeated New Haven State, Wittenberg and Buffalo with Finowski scoring six touchdowns in those games.

Campus Gambling Racket Broken Up

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)—Police announced today the breakup of a football gambling racket on the University of Michigan campus which took in upward of $10,000 weekly from students.

Three students are to be charged formally Monday with conspiracy to violate state gaming laws, police said.

An investigation reportedly has been going on for four weeks.

Detective Lt. George Stauch said a "leak" had hampered the investigation. He said otherwise more persons would face charges.

Young Actor Hopes TV Series To Boost His Movie Stock

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Why does a fellow give up a promising career in movies to cast his lot with the TV gunslingers?

Gene Barry gives a perfectly logical explanation, and it's not just money.

The lad plays a gunslinger and cane-carrier as Bat Masterson on the Wednesday night NBC series. Last year he did three films at highly respectable salaries. Not many young actors can make that statement. So why did he choose TV?

"Because the movie industry is controlled by the bankers today," he explained. "They want insurance when they invest in a picture, and that means the established stars. So you see the same faces doing all the big pictures, and the newcomer doesn't have a chance.

"I had my best year last year, but I still couldn't get the top-notch class of picture. So I decided to try a TV series. Perhaps the exposure I am getting will convince the bankers to take a chance on me in big movies.

"If things go as they have been, I think it might happen. I've had more publicity and recognition in the three weeks that the show has been on the air than I have in the seven years I was in pictures."

Then there is that other matter we mentioned: money. Gene admitted it was a convincing factor in signing with Ziv.

"Richard Carlson and I have the same agent, so I know what kind of money he has made on 'I Led Three Lives,'" the actor said. "At the time I was considering the Bat Masterson series, Dick had received over $600,000 in residuals alone. My deal is even better than his. I have merchandising rights, the opportunity to do rodeos, outside pictures and even TV appearances on other networks."

Of course, his visions of gold are predicated in the show's success. It seems to be taking off nicely. Coupled with Milton Berle, the show has done well in the ratings and has even exceeded Uncle Miltie in some areas.

'Work' Issue's Vote Effect on O'Neill Studied

'Beefsteak Rebellion' Of 1946 Is Recalled By Political Observers

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Politicians rank this year's election "Work" battle alongside Ohio's 1946 "Beefsteak Rebellion" for intensity.

But they disagree on whether it protends for Republican Gov. C. William O'Neill the fate suffered by Democrat Gov. Frank J. Lausche after a first term.

Lausche's friends cite the "Beefsteak Rebellion" as a major factor in his defeat for a second term. That was the year Lausche, now U.S. senator, lost to Republican Thomas J. Herbert, now Ohio Supreme Court judge.

Housewives especially were incensed because steaks were hard to buy. They and their families demanded that the Truman administration end World War II controls, including red meat rationing.

But the controls remained when Election Day came. Voters in Ohio and elsewhere turned out Democrats for Republicans in protest. Herbert won by more than 40,000 votes.

This year's campaign features the issue of labor contract regulation. O'Neill has gone all out in support of proposed constitutional amendment No. 2.

The proposal seeks to outlaw union shop contracts requiring workers to join a union to hold their jobs.

"I will vote for right to work," says O'Neill in urging Ohioans to do likewise.

His Democratic opponent, Michael V. DiSalle, opposes the proposal. So does the Democratic state platform. The GOP state platform is neutral.

DiSalle accuses O'Neill of using the amendment as a smoke screen to hide administration problems that he says will remain after voters settle the "Work" issue on Nov. 4. O'Neill asserts that decision will affect Ohio for years to come.

Lausche backs DiSalle's bid for election but favors the constitutional amendment.

His stand is a sample of the crosswinds whipped up by the campaign issue. Sentiment for and against the proposal crosses party, religious, racial and other lines. Even organized labor opponents aren't certain of solid rank and file following.

Veteran politicians shake their heads over the outcome. Some feel it will make O'Neill a champion and assure him a four-year term. Others think the controversy will sink O'Neill and make DiSalle a shoo-in. But many appear too uncertain to bet either way. They expect a close finish.

Most agree that the outcome will have a bearing on races for other offices, especially the state, congressional and legislative posts. None expects the uncertainty to be resolved before the votes are counted 10 days hence.

Reserve Bank Orders Hike in Interest Rate

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new increase in the Federal Reserve System's discount rate goes into effect today. Financial circles doubt it will have any major impact on other interest charges.

The Federal Reserve Board announced late Thursday that the discount rate would be increased to 2½ per cent in 5 of the 12 reserve districts — Philadelphia, Minneapolis, Richmond, St. Louis and Dallas. Other districts will maintain the old 2 per cent rate for a time but are expected to adopt the increase later.

A hike in the discount, or interest charged when member banks borrow money from the reserve system, usually is intended to tighten credit and fight inflation.

A board spokesman indicated this latest increase—the second in about two months—was based on another consideration: a desire by the board to bring the rate closer into line with other short-term interest charges.

The spokesman noted that the gap between the 2 per cent discount rate and the current 2.8 per cent yield on 91-day Treasury bills was unusual. The board normally keeps the discount rate higher than the bill rate, to discourage banks from borrowing to buy bills.

Wall Streeters said the increase had been expected and that market prices had adjusted to it in advance. One bond expert said the increase might give an upward jolt to short-term rates. However, he said this would be only temporary, and should not affect intermediate and long-term bond issues. New York markets were closed when the announcement came.

Baldwin-Wallace Loses Star Gridder

CLEVELAND (AP)—Bob Finowski, Baldwin - Wallace College's leading football scorer with 44 points this season, was declared ineligible by Coach Lee Tressell just before the team's game with St. Vincent Friday night. It was learned the freshman was a transfer from the University of Iowa.

Finowski said he had attended Iowa for 10 days in the spring of 1956. Under the National Collegiate Athletic Assn. ruling, he must serve one year's residency at Baldwin-Wallace before becoming eligible to compete in intercollegiate athletics.

The NCAA must rule whether the school has to forfeit its games because of the ineligible player. The Yellow Jackets have defeated New Haven State, Wittenberg and Buffalo with Finowski scoring six touchdowns in those games.

Campus Gambling Racket Broken Up

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)—Police announced today the breakup of a football gambling racket on the University of Michigan campus which took in upward of $10,000 weekly from students.

Three students are to be charged formally Monday with conspiracy to violate state gaming laws, police said.

An investigation reportedly has been going on for four weeks.

Detective Lt. George Stauch said a "leak" had hampered the investigation. He said otherwise more persons would face charges.

Hawaii, Pacific Paradise, Loaded with Exotic Bloom

Editor's Note— Want to know a little more about the proposed "50th State"? Miss Betty McCoy, just back from Hawaii, writes glowingly about the islands. All gardeners will relish her account of the delights of a vacation spent there.

Leis, leis, leis! On arrival at Honolulu, Hawaii, visitors are almost submerged beneath layers of fragrant, flowered wreaths placed, not unwillingly, over their heads.

If the "malihinis", or newcomers, can manage to peep over their garlands of petaled foliage and to keep in place the corsages with which the hotels, tour guides and transportation services so lavishly adorn their clients, they may manage to glimpse some of the same charm and beauty of the islands which so lured and captivated such famous men as Robert Louis Stevenson, Mark Twain and Jack London.

Although the hibiscus is present everywhere and is designated as the territorial flower of Hawaii, and may some day become the state flower, seemingly, the most popular leis were made from plumeria, carnation and orchid blossoms.

The Pikake bloom, which grows on a most undistinguished and ungainly looking shrub, when strung on a lei produces a magnificent scent which many people claim to be the most fragrant in the world. It was also the favorite of Hawaiian royalty. A ticker and more expensive lei is made from Ginger which is found in seven varieties.

Along Kalakaua St. where most of the better known hotels are located, lei vendors open their small stands and make their flowered necklaces fresh daily for the hordes of tourists and sightseers who delight in watching the nimble brown fingers quickly fashion hundreds of colored blooms into exotic, sweet-smelling neckwear.

The volcanic soil and warm climate of the Hawaiian islands combine to favor the growth of many trees and plants and from the following list, it is surprising how gracious the land has been to flora that were imported from other countries, as though nature, herself, experimenting with various specimens, had incorporated her own plan of integration.

• • •

HONDURAS Mahogany, golden, pink and white, and Rainbow Shower tree, Chinese and Indian Banyan, Royal Poinciana, Weeping Fig, Papaya, Bamboo, Tulip Tree, etc.

The Monkey Pod and Koa tree, which may have been introduced by the ancient Hawaiians, are used extensively in the making of furniture and fine carving.

In early times, the natives made their outrigger canoes from the Koa tree, a laborious task which would sometimes take months to finish.

The Ohia tree appeared in much the same way as our Aspen which covers the seared earth after a forest fire. It is the first vegetation to grow after the lava flow has cooled from a volcanic eruption.

No article on Hawaii is complete without mentioning the Ti and Taro plant which are so important in the daily life of the native Hawaiian. Taro roots are boiled and pounded carefully to produce the famous poi sauce, principal food of the islanders. The Ti plant is adaptable, both as a source of wrapping material and to furnish a means for a rather strenuous sport.

At the "Luau" or native feast, the green Ti leaves receive great attention as meats and vegetables are rolled in them and cooked slowly in a deep pit.

Since there is snow only on the highest mountain peak, the thrill of a brisk toboggan ride would appear to be denied to the people of these lands, but, not so.

The alert Hawaiian has overcome the obstable by using clusters of slick green Ti leaves to propel himself down the steep inclines.

Sitting resolutely on his leafy sled and holding on firmly, this bold seeker of new adventure can slide into as much gaiety and excitement as his frozen comrades in the more northern countries.

ON THE island of Hawaii, about a one-hour plane flight from Honolulu, traces of an early channel made by members of the royal family can still be seen coursing down the hillside.

In Hawaii pranksters cannot resist the temptation in the form of the fruit of the Rat tree. The seed pod hanging from the branches has the appearance of a huge rat and to touch its fuzzy exterior is to experience the same unpleasant sensation as touching its namesake.

Table arrangements in the hotels featured the wax-like Anthurium, yellow, white, and torch Ginger, Bird of Paradise, Night Blooming Cereus, etc.

Many driveways and lawns were lined with hedges of yellow Allamanda and Beefsteak, plant with a large red leaf. The popular Philodendron curled itself prettily around and over tree trunks and walls. In the lawn of one home, there was an example of sensitive grass whose blades, when lightly touched, closed themselves in shy withdrawal from the view of curious spectators.

Average annual rainfall on the island of Oahu is 63 inches and in parts of Kauai, the Garden Isle, it is an unbelievable 470 inches.

Such unusual variations in rainfall, remarkable precipices and canyons, stable climate, present throughout the island chain, perhaps explain the lush, verdant growth of the "Paradise of the Pacific".

The rare and exquisite Silversword is believed to grow only in the barren wastes of Haleakala crater on the island of Maui.

A favorite excursion for visitors is the Fern Grotto on the island of Kauai which is reached after a pleasant motor launch ride on Wailu River.

As the boat slips easily down the quiet waters, passengers munch cocoanut chips and listen to the guide relate the local legends.

Kauai is the oldest of the Hawaiian group having been first formed by volcanic activity and its chief attraction is the Waimea Canyon which resembles the Grand Canyon of the Colorado.

THE FAMILIAR croton, bouganville and oleander of our own southern climes appear regularly in the yards of many homes. The small Vanda orchids are visible growing wild along the highway. Also the Woodrose which makes such oddly beautiful table arrangements is also seen.

Hawaii! Mountains and valleys, rivers and volcanic deserts, luscious pineapples and sugar cane plantations all vie with each other to find favor in the critical eye of the beholder which may speed another visit to Hawaii.

Among the many words published about these romantic, lovely islands tucked away in the Pacific, the following may best explain the reason for their existence. "To give sweetness to a world sadly in need of it".

Garden Gossip

Herschel Hill's implement store is turned upside-down and hind-part-before by the flower show gals at Pumpkin Show time. We asked Herschel if it did not annoy him to have all the goings-on there. Guess what he said! "Annoy me? Heck no! I love it. I love every single one of the ladies that brings flowers."

Actually Hersh doesn't know how temperamental an exhibitor can be. The committee had to restrain Hersch to keep him from taking the peppermints out of a certain candy jar and replacing them with rusty nuts and bolts.

Gardeners are an amoral lot! We caught several of them gently removing sunflower seeds from the giant sunflower center on exhibit at the flower show. The sunflower had been bought and paid for but was left on display. By Sunday a good one third of the center was gone.

Another trick was to pretend great interest in the giant celosias on display, take them from their place to examine them and shake off a few seeds before replacing the exhibits.

Mrs. Marvin Jones, Kingston, winner of many blue ribbons, stopped her car suddenly at an intersection and her flower arrangements tumbled off the seat and got mussed up. She breathlessly rearranged the line material and made her entries. She took a great many more blue ribbons.

THE WHOLE town is slightly addled by the time Pumpkin Show is over. But the funniest example we've heard is when the well-organized Mrs. Charlie Thompson who won the "Best of Show" Wednesday turned up Friday at the Flower show with an entry for Class 11, "An Arrangement for a bedside table for the novice who has never won a blue ribbon at a flower show."

We have proclaimed loud and long, both orally and in print that wilted flowers at a flower show are inexcusable. We have actually been heard to say that the judging ought to be done at the end of a show, thereby giving ribbons only to the arrangements that held up well. Imagine, then, our pain to learn that our dahlias were wilting even before the judging was over.

Honest-to-goodness, we gave our flowers a 12-hour hardening according to rules before we used any of them.

We consulted Mrs. Kelson Bower, who knows a lot about dahlias, and she suggested that dahlia stems be given the hot water treatment. Plunge stems in boiling water for a few seconds then place them in cool water for several hours.

Everyone loved the double flower show deal. The flower show was fresher and it gave the busy exhibitors two chances to show.

Mrs. Ed Wilkins, Route 1, Circleville, had the most beautiful yellow chrysanthemums in an arrangement Wednesday. The flowers were very fresh and lovely at the end of the show. They ended up at Mrs. Lloyd Jonnes'. She happened to be visiting the flower show and saved the flowers from a trash can fate.

At the Chrysanthemum show in Columbus Saturday and Sunday there were sincere raves about the arrangements in the men's division. We were told by the staging committee that the men themselves were busy at the last minute adding final touches to their creations.

Frank Brandt, Bremen, who won a first in the men's division at the mum show had to remove the cattails from his arrangement so that it would fit in the boot of his car. Mrs. Brandt, thinking to be helpful, started to stick the cattails back in. No siree! That was Frank's arrangement and he was not letting his wife monkey with it.

THE MAN largely responsible for the classes in the arrangement division of the mum show asked how we like the schedule. He said that he was sick of flower show schedules that made you depict Ohio history. "Imagine", he said, "depicting the life of Rutherford B. Hayes in a flower arrangement!"

Sure enough, it was an excellent schedule that called for artistry rather than ingenuity.

Chrysanthemum fanciers were very proud of their show. They do not hesitate to tell you why chrysanthemums are preferable to all other flowers—one of the chief reasons being their lastingness. One fancier took us over to the specimen division. "Ever seeroses in this condition after the judging?" he asked.

Mums are among the world's most difficult flowers to classify. In one class where button mums were called for here was much discussion among the judges as to whether the mums used had been true buttons. Finally a horticulturist from Pittsburgh clarified the situation by proving that none of the mums used were button mums.

More reports that spring's a 'poppin'! Mrs. Ed Wallace, N. Court St. has several iris blooming and a lily. Jerry Johnson, Woodlawn Drive, brought a blooming lilac to The Herald office. Mrs. Ed Fetherolf, Route 1, Kingston, has Forsythia blooming. And it's almost November.

Attention Mrs. Joe Goeller or anyone else that has tiny cherry tomatoes. Use these midget tomatoes in place of the quartered green tomatoes in the dille tomato recipe. Puncture each tomato with a large needle in several places before putting in jars. These midgets are the last word in dilled tomatoes. Delicious and very eye-catching!

Speaking of figs from thistles, Mrs. Enid Denham is picking Concord grapes from a locust tree. The grape vine just grew up the tree and the grapes are hanging from its limbs to all appearances. Concord grapes are mighty good at this season.

Sometimes it seems as though flowers behave like perverse children—just before a flower show anyway. Mrs. Harry Wright's Peace rose had 14 lovely blossoms on it the Monday before the Pumpkin Show Flower Display. By Wednesday she was hard put to it to find even a couple of roses to go with her blue delphinium arrangement.

Jim Mowery is covering some of his plants too against frost. And it's a mighty wise idea. With Pumpkin Show so close it would be a shame to let Jack Frost beat you out of a blue ribbon.

Mrs. Dale Fogler, near Laurelville, claims that if you harden your marigolds in sugar water (about 2 tsp. sugar to a pint of water) the flowers will be deodorized by the next day.

Funny thing about gardeners in October! We get mighty generous with flowers, figuring the frost will get them anyway. I am constitutionally opposed to disbudding. I'd rather have lots of flowers on a bush than one fine specimen. But for Pumpkin Show I'm disbudding very energetically. I figure Jack Frost will get those little fellers anyway so the strength may as well go to one flower.

Winter Storage For Your Bulbs

Kingwood Expert Gives Valuable Tips

At Kingwood Center, Mansfield, there's a bulb storing problem that far surpasses any which individual gardener may have. Kingwood Center has gardens which feature dahlias, gladioli, tuberous begonias as well as a big planting of Peruvian daffodils.

All these specialized gardens require bulb storing facilities. Carlton Lees, Kingwood horticulturist, admits to a longing for an old fashioned dirt-floored cellar.

Such a cellar, and there are many in Pickaway County, means troublefree wintering of dahlia roots, geraniums pulled from the garden and tossed on a dark corner for use next year and glad and Peruvian daffodil bulbs as well as begonia tubers.

The following is storage advice from the Kingwood Center horticulturist;

DAHLIAS— Old fashioned earth-floored cellars worked well as storage space for dahlias and few problems were encountered; today the successful storage of dahlia roots is difficult to achieve. Besides the lack of suitable storage space, the newer varieties do not produce as solid a tuberous root as the older ones, and even in what should be ideal conditions they often do not carry through the winter.

Dig dahlia roots after hard frost; clean them immediately and place each root in dry peatmoss in a plastic freezer bag. Seal the bags with rubber bands and store at 40 degrees F. This low temperature is very important.

GLADIOLUS —Leave gladiolus in the ground until the foliage begins to turn brown or until a hard frost occurs whichever is first; then dig the corms as soon as possible. It is wise to dig before the stems are too ripe, otherwise they will separate from the corms. To keep varieties separated, have several baskets or flats handy at the time of digging.

After lifting, knock the soil from the corms, cut the tops back to three to five inches, and allow the corms to cure for a few weeks before cleaning for winter storage. While they are curing free air circulation is needed, and a high temperature is not harmful. When the corms are dried and cured so that you can remove the stems, old corms and husks easily, clean, sort, label and place them in paper bags, small boxes or sections of a divided flat. Winter storage temperature is 35—50 degrees F.

Five per cent DDT dust sprinkled over the corms (a teaspoon to every 100 or 150 corms) will prevent thrip infestation. Sesesan or Spergon dusted on the bulbs with the DDT will control scab.

TUBEROUS BEGONIAS — As soon as tuberous begonias have been touched by a light frost and the foliage is blackened, dig the tubers and place them in a frost-free place to dry off. Do not remove the top of the plant and the soil adhering to the tubers until a week or two after they have been dug. Then cut the top back to about three or four inches from the tuber.

Gradually the stems and roots will dry and after several weeks the stub of the stem will come off easily. At this time shake the dry soil off the tubers and pack them in peat moss, vermiculite or sand so the tubers do not touch each other. Keep them in a place where the temperature is between 45 and 60 degrees F. If plants are grown in pots remove only the tops, store the pots on their sides until dried out and then remove the tubers and store as mentioned above.

PERUVIAN DAFFODILS — Dig Peruvian daffodils (Hymenocallis) before hard frost, allow the soil and leaves to remain on the bulbs and dry in an upsidedown position. Do not cut off the fleshy roots. After the foliage has dried, clean and store the bulbs, retaining at least a part of the roots, in vermiculite. Unlike most summer bulbs, Peruvian daffodils require a relatively high storage temperature (60—70 degrees F.)

DILLED GREEN TOMATOES — Gardeners and home canners have not finished their season until green tomatoes have been salvaged from the frost nipped vines and made into this epicurean delight. An easy pickle, it is best when served icy cold with roast pork.

Dilled Tomatoes Are Delight of Epicure

Wait a minute there, you home canners! The season is not quite over. Yes, Jack Frost has nipped at the flowers and foliage in the gardens but if you examine your tomato vines you'll find a whole crop of green tomatoes nestling under the nipped foliage.

And according to Gladys Kimbrough, Ball Bros. Co., Muncie, Ind. dilled green tomatoes are an epicurean delight. Dilled tomatoes are cured in a brine, but the job is a quick easy one.

Place quartered green tomatoes (of like size) in a pint jar on top of a layer of dill (green or dried). In the same jar place one garlic clove, one small hot pepper and ½ teaspoon light mustard seed. Top with another layer of dill.

To make brine—from ½ to ¾ cup brine will be needed for each pint. Mix two cups of vinegar, two cups of water, four tablespoons salt and four tablespoons sugar. Tie one tablespoon high grade pickling spice in a bag. The garlic in another bag, cover the pan, bring mixture to boil and let simmer 20 minutes. Fill jars to within one inch of the top of the jar with the hot brine. Put dome lids on jar and screw band tight. Process pints for 15 minutes in a boiling water bath. Let pickles stand about a month before using.

DDT kills all insects that infest potatoes, including the potato aphid, leaf hopper, flea beetle and potato beetle. It may be mixed with a fungicide to give complete protection with one application.

Bleeding hearts, irises and oriental poppies are easily divided and replanted.

Cucumbers grow fast and within a day or two after reaching desirable slicing size, are apt to become overgrown and seedy.

Daffodil Bulbs Easy to Plant

Getting some fancy daffodil bulbs this spring? Daffodils are versatile and adaptable, long-lived and certain. But don't be too casual with your expensive bulbs. Give them a square deal.

Dig your border to depth of 18 inches. Mix a handful of bonemeal in each square foot of the bottom soil. Place your bulb, neck up on the soil mixed with the bonemeal and cover with at least six inches of top soil.

Plant bulbs about eight inches apart.

Miss Lida Frey, S. Court St., uses the bonemeal treatment for her bulbs and her daffodils are without peer.

Easy! Isn't it!

Pike Countain Pleads Innocent

WAVERLY, Ohio (AP) — Odd Woodruff, 44, pleaded innocent today to a second-degree murder charge stemming from the fatal shooting of a neighbor, Guy Clark, 50.

The victim was found shot to death Tuesday night on a country road near Piketon, near where both men lived.

Sheriff Jesse H. Foster said he learned both men had been drinking together. But he said he has found no motive for the shooting.

Foster said Woodruff will be taken to London Prison Farm next week for lie detector tests.

Woodruff was bound to the grand jury at his arraignment before Pike County Judge George O. Parchute. He was ordered held in jail under $5,000 bond.

THE WHOLE town is slightly addled by the time Pumpkin Show is over. But the funniest example we've heard is when the well-organized Mrs. Charlie Thompson who won the "Best of Show" Wednesday turned up Friday at the Flower show with an entry for Class 11, "An Arrangement for a bedside table for the novice who has never won a blue ribbon at a flower show."

We have proclaimed loud and long, both orally and in print that wilted flowers at a flower show are inexcusable. We have actually been heard to say that the judging ought to be done at the end of a show, thereby giving ribbons only to the arrangements that held up well. Imagine, then, our pain to learn that our dahlias were wilting even before the judging was over.

Honest-to-goodness, we gave our flowers a 12-hour hardening according to rules before we used any of them.

We consulted Mrs. Kelson Bower, who knows a lot about dahlias, and she suggested that dahlia stems be given the hot water treatment. Plunge stems in boiling water for a few seconds then place them in cool water for several hours.

Everyone loved the double flower show deal. The flower show was fresher and it gave the busy exhibitors two chances to show.

Mrs. Ed Wilkins, Route 1, Circleville, had the most beautiful yellow chrysanthemums in an arrangement Wednesday. The flowers were very fresh and lovely at the end of the show. They ended up at Mrs. Lloyd Jonnes'. She happened to be visiting the flower show and saved the flowers from a trash can fate.

At the Chrysanthemum show in Columbus Saturday and Sunday there were sincere raves about the arrangements in the men's division. We were told by the staging committee that the men themselves were busy at the last minute adding final touches to their creations.

Frank Brandt, Bremen, who won a first in the men's division at the mum show had to remove the cattails from his arrangement so that it would fit in the boot of his car. Mrs. Brandt, thinking to be helpful, started to stick the cattails back in. No siree! That was Frank's arrangement and he was not letting his wife monkey with it.

THE MAN largely responsible for the classes in the arrangement division of the mum show asked how we like the schedule. He said that he was sick of flower show schedules that made you depict Ohio history. "Imagine", he said, "depicting the life of Rutherford B. Hayes in a flower arrangement!"

Sure enough, it was an excellent schedule that called for artistry rather than ingenuity.

Chrysanthemum fanciers were very proud of their show. They do not hesitate to tell you why chrysanthemums are preferable to all other flowers—one of the chief reasons being their lastingness. One fancier took us over to the specimen division. "Ever seeroses in this condition after the judging?" he asked.

Mums are among the world's most difficult flowers to classify. In one class where button mums were called for here was much discussion among the judges as to whether the mums used had been true buttons. Finally a horticulturist from Pittsburgh clarified the situation by proving that none of the mums used were button mums.

More reports that spring's a 'poppin'! Mrs. Ed Wallace, N. Court St. has several iris blooming and a lily. Jerry Johnson, Woodlawn Drive, brought a blooming lilac to The Herald office. Mrs. Ed Fetherolf, Route 1, Kingston, has Forsythia blooming. And it's almost November.

Attention Mrs. Joe Goeller or anyone else that has tiny cherry tomatoes. Use these midget tomatoes in place of the quartered green tomatoes in the dille tomato recipe. Puncture each tomato with a large needle in several places before putting in jars. These midgets are the last word in dilled tomatoes. Delicious and very eye-catching!

Speaking of figs from thistles, Mrs. Enid Denham is picking Concord grapes from a locust tree. The grape vine just grew up the tree and the grapes are hanging from its limbs to all appearances. Concord grapes are mighty good at this season.

Sometimes it seems as though flowers behave like perverse children—just before a flower show anyway. Mrs. Harry Wright's Peace rose had 14 lovely blossoms on it the Monday before the Pumpkin Show Flower Display. By Wednesday she was hard put to it to find even a couple of roses to go with her blue delphinium arrangement.

Jim Mowery is covering some of his plants too against frost. And it's a mighty wise idea. With Pumpkin Show so close it would be a shame to let Jack Frost beat you out of a blue ribbon.

Mrs. Dale Fogler, near Laurelville, claims that if you harden your marigolds in sugar water (about 2 tsp. sugar to a pint of water) the flowers will be deodorized by the next day.

Funny thing about gardeners in October! We get mighty generous with flowers, figuring the frost will get them anyway. I am constitutionally opposed to disbudding. I'd rather have lots of flowers on a bush than one fine specimen. But for Pumpkin Show I'm disbudding very energetically. I figure Jack Frost will get those little fellers anyway so the strength may as well go to one flower.

Winter Storage For Your Bulbs

Kingwood Expert Gives Valuable Tips

At Kingwood Center, Mansfield, there's a bulb storing problem that far surpasses any which individual gardener may have. Kingwood Center has gardens which feature dahlias, gladioli, tuberous begonias as well as a big planting of Peruvian daffodils.

All these specialized gardens require bulb storing facilities. Carlton Lees, Kingwood horticulturist, admits to a longing for an old fashioned dirt-floored cellar.

Such a cellar, and there are many in Pickaway County, means troublefree wintering of dahlia roots, geraniums pulled from the garden and tossed on a dark corner for use next year and glad and Peruvian daffodil bulbs as well as begonia tubers.

The following is storage advice from the Kingwood Center horticulturist;

DAHLIAS— Old fashioned earth-floored cellars worked well as storage space for dahlias and few problems were encountered; today the successful storage of dahlia roots is difficult to achieve. Besides the lack of suitable storage space, the newer varieties do not produce as solid a tuberous root as the older ones, and even in what should be ideal conditions they often do not carry through the winter.

Dig dahlia roots after hard frost; clean them immediately and place each root in dry peatmoss in a plastic freezer bag. Seal the bags with rubber bands and store at 40 degrees F. This low temperature is very important.

GLADIOLUS —Leave gladiolus in the ground until the foliage begins to turn brown or until a hard frost occurs whichever is first; then dig the corms as soon as possible. It is wise to dig before the stems are too ripe, otherwise they will separate from the corms. To keep varieties separated, have several baskets or flats handy at the time of digging.

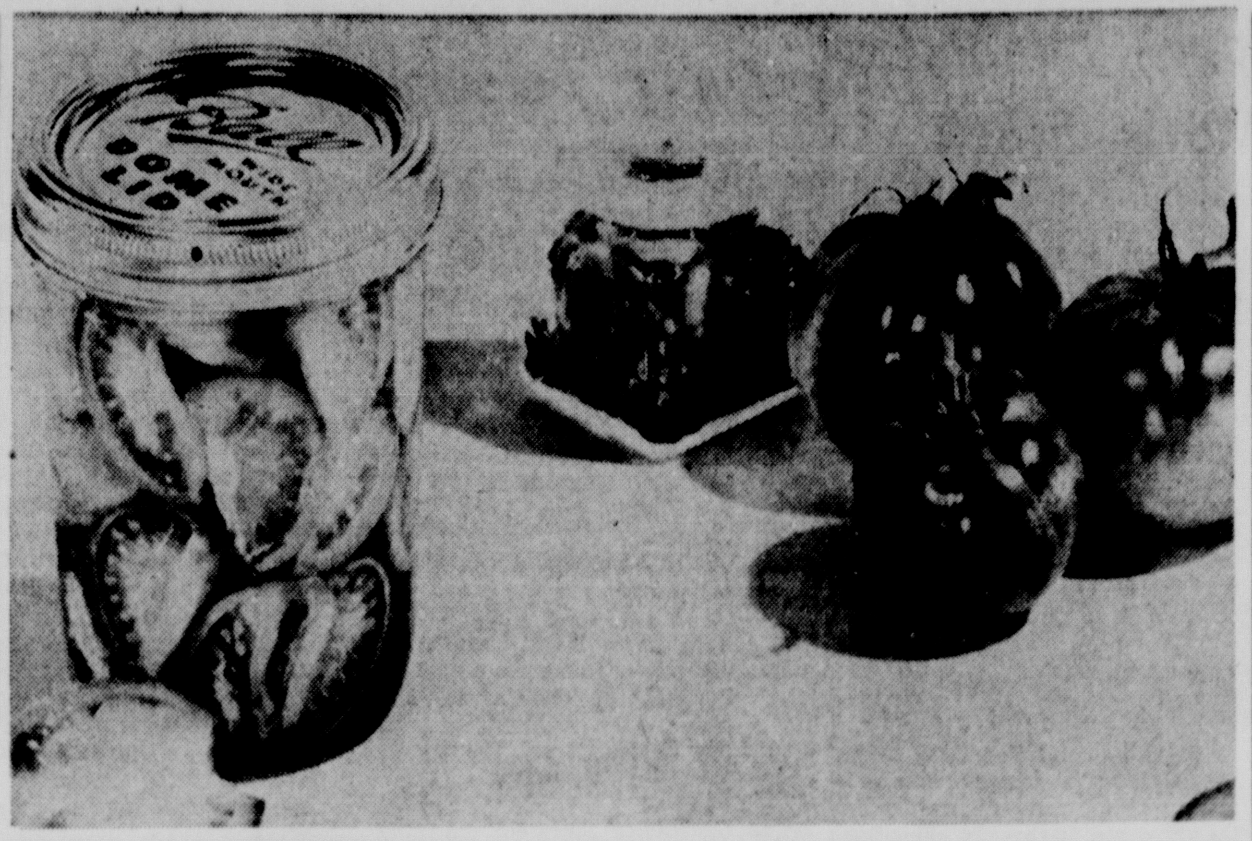
After lifting, knock the soil from the corms, cut the tops back to three to five inches, and allow the corms to cure for a few weeks before cleaning for winter storage. While they are curing free air circulation is needed, and a high temperature is not harmful. When the corms are dried and cured so that you can remove the stems, old corms and husks easily, clean, sort, label and place them in paper bags, small boxes or sections of a divided flat. Winter storage temperature is 35—50 degrees F.

Five per cent DDT dust sprinkled over the corms (a teaspoon to every 100 or 150 corms) will prevent thrip infestation. Sesesan or Spergon dusted on the bulbs with the DDT will control scab.

TUBEROUS BEGONIAS — As soon as tuberous begonias have been touched by a light frost and the foliage is blackened, dig the tubers and place them in a frost-free place to dry off. Do not remove the top of the plant and the soil adhering to the tubers until a week or two after they have been dug. Then cut the top back to about three or four inches from the tuber.

Gradually the stems and roots will dry and after several weeks the stub of the stem will come off easily. At this time shake the dry soil off the tubers and pack them in peat moss, vermiculite or sand so the tubers do not touch each other. Keep them in a place where the temperature is between 45 and 60 degrees F. If plants are grown in pots remove only the tops, store the pots on their sides until dried out and then remove the tubers and store as mentioned above.

PERUVIAN DAFFODILS — Dig Peruvian daffodils (Hymenocallis) before hard frost, allow the soil and leaves to remain on the bulbs and dry in an upsidedown position. Do not cut off the fleshy roots. After the foliage has dried, clean and store the bulbs, retaining at least a part of the roots, in vermiculite. Unlike most summer bulbs, Peruvian daffodils require a relatively high storage temperature (60—70 degrees F.)



DILLED GREEN TOMATOES — Gardeners and home canners have not finished their season until green tomatoes have been salvaged from the frost nipped vines and made into this epicurean delight. An easy pickle, it is best when served icy cold with roast pork.

Dilled Tomatoes Are Delight of Epicure

Wait a minute there, you home canners! The season is not quite over. Yes, Jack Frost has nipped at the flowers and foliage in the gardens but if you examine your tomato vines you'll find a whole crop of green tomatoes nestling under the nipped foliage.

And according to Gladys Kimbrough, Ball Bros. Co., Muncie, Ind. dilled green tomatoes are an epicurean delight. Dilled tomatoes are cured in a brine, but the job is a quick easy one.

Place quartered green tomatoes (of like size) in a pint jar on top of a layer of dill (green or dried). In the same jar place one garlic clove, one small hot pepper and ½ teaspoon light mustard seed. Top with another layer of dill.

To make brine—from ½ to ¾ cup brine will be needed for each pint. Mix two cups of vinegar, two cups of water, four tablespoons salt and four tablespoons sugar. Tie one tablespoon high grade pickling spice in a bag. The garlic in another bag, cover the pan, bring mixture to boil and let simmer 20 minutes. Fill jars to within one inch of the top of the jar with the hot brine. Put dome lids on jar and screw band tight. Process pints for 15 minutes in a boiling water bath. Let pickles stand about a month before using.

DDT kills all insects that infest potatoes, including the potato aphid, leaf hopper, flea beetle and potato beetle. It may be mixed with a fungicide to give complete protection with one application.

Bleeding hearts, irises and oriental poppies are easily divided and replanted.

Cucumbers grow fast and within a day or two after reaching desirable slicing size, are apt to become overgrown and seedy.

Daffodil Bulbs Easy to Plant

Getting some fancy daffodil bulbs this spring? Daffodils are versatile and adaptable, long-lived and certain. But don't be too casual with your expensive bulbs. Give them a square deal.

Dig your border to depth of 18 inches. Mix a handful of bonemeal in each square foot of the bottom soil. Place your bulb, neck up on the soil mixed with the bonemeal and cover with at least six inches of top soil.

Plant bulbs about eight inches apart.

Miss Lida Frey, S. Court St., uses the bonemeal treatment for her bulbs and her daffodils are without peer.

Easy! Isn't it!

Pike Countain Pleads Innocent

WAVERLY, Ohio (AP) — Odd Woodruff, 44, pleaded innocent today to a second-degree murder charge stemming from the fatal shooting of a neighbor, Guy Clark, 50.

The victim was found shot to death Tuesday night on a country road near Piketon, near where both men lived.

Sheriff Jesse H. Foster said he learned both men had been drinking together. But he said he has found no motive for the shooting.

Foster said Woodruff will be taken to London Prison Farm next week for lie detector tests.

Woodruff was bound to the grand jury at his arraignment before Pike County Judge George O. Parchute. He was ordered held in jail under $5,000 bond.
